'ANGELIC' EXPRESSION

Albert found himself face to face with a dilemma when confronted with these 'fishy' characters. He would dearly have loved to dine upon the angel fish swimming gracefully in Ross Tupling's aquarium, but his inherent feline dislike of water won out in the end. He was forced to look and not touch.

Budget set for Protestant District

Supporters of the Protestant School District in St. Albert will face an increase in education taxes this year of approximately $80 on an average property assessment of $37,000. Last year the increase was about $12 on the same assessment. The District set a mill rate of 26.77, an 18.6 mill increase over 1978. It means that the education tax bill on the average house mentioned above should increase to about $266 from $186. Municipal taxes on that same house amounted to $592 last year. And they shouldn't increase this year with provincial grants handed out during the election last month.

The balanced budget totals $9,677,039 of which $1,752,004 (18.1%) will be born by St. Albert taxpayers directly and $7,542,035 (77.9%) by the Province. A small amount of revenues will also be derived from other sources such as tuition fees ($15,000) bus passes ($100,000), text book rental ($75,000) and the Feds ($14,000). The surplus from last year's budget ($159,000) has been devied between Lorne Akins ($21,000 for lockers) and W.D. Cuts ($138,000 toward construction costs).

Salaries (which increased 8% including benefits in 1979) are responsible for the biggest slice of expenditures. 254.5 teachers (including eight degrees in Central Office) and their expenses amount to $6,034,000 (62.36 percent of the budget). Other district employees and their benefits amount to $1,001. Please Turn to Page A4

Cemeteries - who needs 'em?

Apparently the fact of death is not as obvious to some as to others. City council for one, seems doubtful of the final reality, or so their latest action on the cemetery would indicate. Council last night heard one of their number intone that "the city is still studying the need for a cemetery." Have we missed something? Has the secret of immortality been found? If the elected officials of St. Albert knows how to bring on immortality, they should pass the intriguing information along. If they don't, they should accept the cemetery without further questioning of an inevitable need.

Harvey, CSAB still at impasse

Angered by Mayor Ronald Harvey's public censure of one of their members, the Community Services Advisory Board went to council last night to give voice to its feelings. The discussion ended with the departure of the board members in a wave of set faces and mutinous expressions. However, although at least one alderman was apprehensive that the board might feel provoked to mass resignation, Board Chairman Gerry Jaycocks said after that no such action was planned. The board will discuss the conflict at an upcoming meeting. Mr. Jaycocks said the mayor was doing a good job but that he did not understand the idea of volunteerism.

In his remarks to council, Mr. Jaycocks read from a letter signed by all members of the board. The letter expressed the members' unhappiness with Mayor Ron Harvey's remarks to Mr. Jaycocks at last week's meeting and their disappointment at his treatment of Please Turn to Page A 8

LeDrew, planners dispute dedication

A dispute between Dr. Don LeDrew and the city's planning department resulted Tuesday night in Dr. LeDrew's appearance at the regular meeting of city council. Dr. LeDrew was present to state his position in regard to the controversial dedication of a 45 foot right-of-way on his commercial lot at 260 St. Albert Road.

LeDrew also made some requests of council. Included was a query as to the legal validity of the dedication requirement. He further asked that he be allowed to hold the dedication back until such time as the service road Please Turn to Page A 2

New superintendent at District No. 6

Dr. Peter Bargaen, a former chief commissioner for the City of Edmonton and former superintendent of schools for the Edmonton Public School Board has been selected as the man to replace retiring Protestant School District Superintendent Elmer Gish. Dr. Bargaen's position becomes effective at the beginning of the 1979-80 school year.

From September 1979

through December 31, 1979 the District will operate with two superintendents as Dr. Bargaen familiarizes with Mr. Gish's set-up and Mr. Gish fulfills his contract.

Dr. Bargaen is currently executive director of the Ontario School Trustees Council which oversees 101 school boards. He is married with three children and intends to reside in St. Albert Please Turn to Page 7A

SMOKE DETECTOR KEEPS DAMAGE LOW

A smoke detector sounded about 4 p.m. Monday and alerted a woman in this house on Gladstone Crescent of a fire in the basement. The blaze was confined to a downstairs bedroom as the St. Albert Fire Department was quickly alerted. Fire officials aren't sure as to how the fire started, but it did gut a bedroom while the rest of the basement suffered some smoke damage. No injuries resulted from the fire, but damage was estimated by a fire department member at more than $6,000. Had the house not had a smoke detector, damage could have been considerably higher.

planners dispute dedication

Continued From Page A 1 is constructed. He said that he made the request to facilitate financing. He also expressed concern about the possibility he would be compelled to wait for the divulgence of plans for highway 2 before he could proceed with his development. Dr. LeDrew's option on the parcel runs out this month.

LeDrew said he was told by city planners that he "didn't have a leg to stand on" in his questioning of the legality of the dedication demand. He added they had stated that if he wanted to develop the property at all, he had better accept the conditions. Dr. LeDrew said he could find nothing in the Provincial Planning Act to support the city's position that he should be required to dedicate a right-of-way. City Manager Bob Byron dissented from this view, saying that the city was entitled to request up to 30 per cent when a highway and a road access are involved. He remarked there is no set formula for a REASONABLE DEDICATION.

While most aldermen thought the matter required more thought, Ald. Liesbeth Bakker felt the council should give Dr. LeDrew an answer immediately.

"I am most upset about the whole thing", she stated. At press time it was unknown what council decided.

Blake Emmons headlines upcoming Trade Fair

Blake Emmons is an entertainer, with a strong voice and a sharp wit which makes him natural in the country music field. Blake Emmons is also a humanitarian and has devoted much of his time to helping children with birth defects.

Let it be said, first of all, that Emmons is a first-class entertainer. Canadian-born but now a resident of Nashville, he's solid in his country music roots and a typical show will include songs like: Ramblin' Man, Rhinestone Cowboy, Thank God I'm a Country Boy, Sunshine and Sweet Caroline.

He's high-spirited yet he's at ease with ballads too. His 'strong suit' is communication. He gets to know his audiences, draws ideas from them, and then connects those ideas into comedy lines. He can be social, political, urban and country, while covering a lot of territory in between.

Blake, along with his nine piece orchestra, will be performing two 90 minute shows at this year's Trade Fair. The first show will be Saturday, May 5, (from 8:30 to 10 p.m.) and the second show, will be on Sunday, May 6, (from 2:30 to 4 p.m.).

This year's Trade Fair (to be held in the Perron Street Arena May 4, 5 and 6) also will feature five Edmonton Eskimos, dancing and a fashion show by the St. Albert School of Dance, a well-known puppet show 'Crash and Flash,' Ronald MacDonald, food kiosks, and bargains by the boothful.

BLAKE EMMONS

Funny Farm star Blake Emmons will be bringing his versatile music and comedy to the St. Albert Trade Fair May 5 and 6.

Community continues to upgrade school grounds

Last year it was a tire playground for the younger children residing near Bertha Kennedy School in Lacombe Park. This year the school's Parent Advisory Committee plans to provide facilities for older children as well as completing landscaping around the school grounds.

Plans have been drawn for a hard-topped basketball court, volleyball courts (2), tether ball facilities, a tennis and/or racquet ball practice court, a railway tie border around the tire playground, buffer trees, planters and trees in front of the school and benches and a patio area. (See diagram page A2).

Students and parents have already donated $2,000 to the project and a bottle drive set for Saturday, April 21 is projected to bring in another $1,000.

As in the case of the tire playground, construction will take place in one day and involve a large team of community volunteers. Some equipment and materials donations have already been lined up but more are still required. The Catholic School Board has given approval in principle to the project and will likely grant a sum of money when the committee submits a budget. The City of St. Albert is also being approached for money under the Civic Grant program. Nurseries are being approached for tree and shrub donations.

A project of this magnitude naturally requires a great deal of community support especially on construction day. Anyone able to contribute in any of the following areas will certainly be appreciated: Volunteers - Dr. Barry Caplan (458-5669), Mr. Gerry Welch (459-4372), Mr. Ron Crosby (459-6438).

Materials - Mr. Rolly Noel (459-3763), Mr. Wally Rolofs (458-6521);

Equipment - Mr. Ron Bohaychuk (459-6747), Mr. Bill Webb (459-4986).

Food and Refreshment - Mrs. Anne Buccini (459-7384), Mrs. Jamie Bourbonnais (459-4966), Mrs. Dianne Nadeau (459-8475).

Services to Handicapped in state of transition

The handicapped person of today need not always seek the special services he requires in an institution. As can be seen in communities in and around Edmonton, there is an increasing trend to the integration of these services into the home community. In an address to the St. Albert Association for the Handicapped on Monday, April 9, Dr. Perry Kincaide, regional co-ordinator of Services for the Handicapped for the Alberta government told members that the expectations of handicapped people have risen in recent years which has furthered the trend.

The presentation was followed by a question and answer period and a film entitled "Let Me In."

The St. Albert Association for the Handicapped will be running a Logo Contest from May 1 - 15. There will be a cash prize of $100 contributed by Block Brothers Realty.

CONTEST RULES

Participants must be 12 years old or up and only one entry per person is permitted.

Entry is restricted to St. Albert and area residents. Contestant must supply name, address, phone number and occupation. Entry must be in black and white, standard size 8 1/2" by 11" and no entries will be accepted after May 15. Submit entries to the St. Albert Association for the Handicapped c/o 38 Bellevue Crescent, St. Albert, T8N 0A6.

Please keep in mind the word "handicapped" while designing the Logo.

Please help us find a "Logo" by participating. The St. Albert Association for the Handicapped wishes to publicize their role in the community and increase public awareness of its aims. The association devotes itself to the welfare of those in the community who are in any way disabled. A logo would serve to draw attention to the group and its efforts.

GAMES POSTER GOING UP

St. Albert Summer Games Chairman Dick Fowler dropped by the Gazette office Tuesday to pin up the first of 7,500 colourful posters which will soon be appearing around St. Albert and all over the province. In addition to the posters the Games Board has published 50,000 brochures which will be distributed by various agents throughout the province including the Alberta Gas Retailers Association, the Midnight Twilight Tourist Association, Recreation Boards, etc. Coca Cola will aid in the distribution of 2,500 posters by displaying them in retail outlets across Alberta.

Very interesting

The daily mail often produces the odd chuckle around the Gazette, but a press release in last Thursday's mail drew laughter that had distinctly ironic overtones. The release came from National Geographic and was dated in March. The piece had been written with good intentions no doubt, but recent news events had since rendered it laughably out of date. The subject was nuclear safety systems, specifically cooling systems in pressurized water reactors. The story describes how tons of water under high pressure carry away the intense heat and "keep the reactor temperature within limits." Only one example is cited in the National Geographic's piece. The Society's choice was unfortunate however. According to them, the best illustration of the system is -- you guessed -- the plant at Three Mile Island! To their credit, they did comment that "any interference with this flow is potentially dangerous." And How!

The Gazette REFLECTS

Compulsive addiction treatment ominous

British Columbia recently marked an ignominious anniversary: the first birthday of her compulsory addiction treatment program. This was initiated in reaction to the province's soaring crime rate. A large percentage of B.C. crime is drug-related and citizens are understandably desperate to end this binge of brutality. However, the solution on which they seized is no answer. As one B.C. doctor, an addiction treatment specialist says, the experience of other jurisdictions has proven the programs results are not worth the price paid.

It should be obvious that unless all addicts are given a life sentence in maximum security, there can be no hope of forcing addicts to go straight. If they could be that easily deterred, this sinister island hideaway for junkies would never exist. The figures on recovery from opiate addiction are depressing: only .06 percent of addicts are ever successful in dislodging the opiate monkey from their backs forever. This tiny group must have needed every ounce of will to win the battle. Without that will, the odds on success are infinitesimal. The hard core addict fears life without his drug more than anything on earth. Temporary institutionalization and compulsive withdrawal are only minor irritants in comparison.

The price tag on this program and others like it has yet to be reckoned. What are the implications of yet another sacrifice of precious freedoms? And this does not refer only to the rights of addicts. Every time a repressive law is passed in the name of the public good, it has an equal potential to act against that public. Those who scoff at this danger should have a chat with Howard Gowan. In 1967, Mr. Gowan made the mistake of filing a complaint about the slow response by the local RCMP to problems he encountered as the owner of a 1600 acre ranch. They responded to this one. One day while Howard was working around the place, the police drove up and asked Howard to chat with them in the cruiser. Howard did and they talked ... all the way to the nearest mental health clinic. From there, he was transferred to a psychiatric institution where he was subjected to extensive electro-shock treatments and drug therapy. His wife was unable to locate him for 40 days and he was finally rescued by a student nurse who recognized him and convinced hospital staff that all was not as it should be.

Keep Howard Gowan and his trumped-up madness in mind. And don't forget Val Orlikow, the Canadian MP's wife who was treated with LSD on several occasions without her knowledge or approval in a CIA sponsored experiment in a Montreal hospital. Ignore Peter Treu's persecution at the hands of the federal government at your own risk.

For those who still see the issue of civil liberties as so much bleeding-heart blather, the danger of trading them in might be more convincing in a fiscal metaphor! Civil rights are the currency with which we purchase law, order and security. We are advocating conservation in all matters, from money to energy to water. The same approach is needed with law. If we fritter our currency away in a flurry of small repressive programs, we risk depleting our shrinking fund of liberties. However, this kind of bankruptcy won't enjoy any of the relief now brought to the fiscally bankrupt. If we run out of liberty, there will be no overdrafts or consolidations, loans or credit cards. There will only be oppression.

Another $1,018,000 is slated for debt servicing. $50,000 of this is for operational borrowing and the rest is scheduled for debenture payments. The Province supports $770,738 (plus $17,500 interest support - borrowing in excess of 8% interest) leaving $179,762 for St. Albert taxpayers to pick up (about $30 of that $266 education tax bill mentioned above).

Capital expenditures include smoke detectors ($4,000), dust collectors for the woodworking shop at Simpson ($14,000), maintenance ($15,000) includes additional truck - $6,000 and three master clocks - $7,000, office equipment ($5,000) includes Microwave oven for Paul Kane cafeteria - $1,000 renovations ($28,985 includes carpeting in grade one classrooms at Rundle and Mackenzie - $4,000, carpeting in library and offices at Nickerson - $2,400, sound proofing music room at Simpson - $4,700, guidance office and remedial reading room at Mackenzie - $5,000, storage area for science lab at Paul Kane - $3,000) and $118,000 for instructional equipment (typewriters, industrial and graphic arts equipment, band equipment, colour video tape recorders, etc.).

BUSING

Transportation costs have shot up considerably with ratepayers looking at over 2.5 mills to help cover the $315,000 needed. Government grants have been cut $50,000 following the completion of W.D. Cuts and Wild Rose schools because students in those areas now have community schools less than 1½ miles away and thereby do not qualify. St. Albert's classification as a city cut another $25,000 from provincial grants. Highway Traffic Board ratings of 66 passenger buses as 44 passenger buses for senior and junior high school students increased the number of buses necessary at $11,000 per bus.

Bus passes will again increase this year as the District 6 Board continues its 'user pay' policy. Even at the $80 per person per year rate set, (families pay a maximum $160), the administration says passes would have to increase by some $100 to even approach the break-even point.

THE GOOD NEWS

The increased tax load means a lower pupil/teacher ratio and new programs in the special education area. Grades one and two will have lower class loads. Robert Rundle's enrichment program will run as a pilot for one more year before evaluation and consideration for its expansion. And the District's instructional staff development program will continue; allowing teachers to be more capable of introducing new programs to the classroom for student benefit. The latter is particularly pertinent with the significant number of curricula changes being introduced by Alberta Education.

A junior grade one program will be introduced in the fall. It will provide small classes for those students who are not quite ready for the regular program and have the side benefit of generally reducing grade one class sizes. Grade one classrooms will be carpeted to facilitate the many activities these students take part in on the floor.

Both opportunity classes now in existence will be maintained for the educable retarded as will the two junior high improvement classes. Two pre-vocational classes will be added at the junior high level to accommodate a growing number of students which Edmonton no longer has places for.

Counselling services and librarians will be maintained in every school.

COMMENTS

Superintendent Elmer Gish summed up his review of the budget saying, "I think that in view of the programs we are offering, the taxpayers will be getting real value for their money."

Trustee Garry Hodgins, a member of the Finance Committee, explained the significant tax increase by relating it to last year's budget. "Last year we were a little bit more stringent than we perhaps should have been, making this year's move necessary. We are looking at computerized systems to help us look down the road and level out these bumps."

Trustee Ernie Wynchuk, while happy with the additional programs, was still concerned about the number of special education students which continue to travel into Edmonton. He hoped that new construction next year (Akinsdale) would help in this area.

Trustee Shirley McCaffery said that she hoped "that when you (District administration) get public reaction, people realize St. Albert has a very high average income and it (tax increase) is not very much when compared to the money people pay for luxuries." She went on to defend the increase in bus fare with the argument that the Board uses its money for education with transportation not a top priority.

Board Chairman Wes Penner called the budget "a catch-up budget" with last year's being fairly stringent. "I know, I received calls saying I hadn't done much to improve the quality of education. I hope this year will make it up." He pointed out that taxes in the district would still be less than District 3 or Edmonton.

Finance Chairman Scott Firese summed up with an explanation of busing costs. He said that during the last two months he had been in contact with the city and asked that they look at student busing in their current study of overall busing requirements. "Increasing costs," he said, "make this approach even more necessary."

... value for the tax dollar

Managing growth is a complex problem, coming to a head

By Ernie Jamison

Much hullabaloo has been created in the Greater Edmonton area by the "Horizon 21" application by the City of Edmonton to the Local Authorities Board. It is a bold move by Edmonton to bring a huge tract of land under the city's jurisdiction. Edmonton's boundaries would be expanded to include St. Albert and Sherwood Park with a combined population nearing 60,000, and large portions to be taken from surrounding rural municipalities, one of the biggest losers being the M.D. of Sturgeon. Excluding St. Albert and Sherwood Park, the land within the application is presently used for agriculture, light and heavy industrial sites and hundreds of country residences on acreages. The areas are governed by a seven-member council in St. Albert, the County of Strathcona which includes Sherwood Park with nine councillors, (three from Sherwood Park), M.D. Sturgeon and counties of Leduc and Parkland.

Throughout the province, back in the fifties, regional planning commissions were set up to "manage" growth and land use considerations. They were made up of elected representatives from the various municipal bodies in each region. When the Edmonton Regional Planning Commission was set up the growth rate in Alberta had been slow, but was starting to pick up in the wake of the discovery of the Leduc oil field. The rush began for finding more oil and gas, and with the development came pipelines to feed refineries and chemical plants in the greater Edmonton area, particularly her eastern boundaries. Major rivers were a requirement for these developments. Except for temporary influxes during drilling and pipeline construction, the rural areas did not grow significantly. The main effect of the new industry was boom growth in Edmonton and Calgary, and by 1970 it was estimated that over 70 percent of the population lived in Edmonton and Calgary, despite concerted efforts by smaller centres to attract spin off growth.

The Trans Canada pipeline was built and oil was shipped east to petro-chemical plants, the Social Credit Government being content to collect a relatively small royalty and allow the major benefits of the oil and gas industry to accrue to Calgary and Edmonton. Meanwhile commercial buildings in towns and villages were being boarded up and little new construction took place. The fight was on in areas where gas plants came in to attract the 10 to 30 permanent employees, often with special concessions granted to get even 10 new homes built. It was a struggle to make many centres viable.

HOW THINGS HAVE CHANGED

When the Conservative government came in, with a new policy of diversifying growth and greatly increased revenues through higher royalties on oil and gas, the picture changed. In the past eight years Alberta has grown by more than 500,000 people, with much of that growth going to centres outside the two major cities. St. Albert in 1966 was less than 8,000, and people were having to give up their homes for less than was left on the mortgage if they had to move. Homes were being disposed of by mortgage companies at $10,000 to a top of $25,000 and it was a depressing time for St. Albert. Just east of Edmonton in Sherwood Park houses could be bought for less and taxes were lower. This was due to tax revenue returns on oil and gas industries in County Strathcona. Municipalities petitioned the government for a sharing of industrial tax, arguing that the resources providing this tax base belonged to all Albertans. Neither the Socreds or the P.C.'s ever came up with such a formula, although some parts of the U.S.A. do have such a sharing formula, such as North Carolina where industrial wealth is spread throughout the state. Rather the present government opted for decentralization and diversification and in fact most centres in Alberta have benefited from this policy. But gone were the days when towns felt 10 or 20 new homes would be a boost. Thousands of new homes and resulting increases in assessment did not put places like St. Albert in a strong financial position - rather the town went further and further into debt, under a ratio of roughly 94 percent residential and six percent business/industrial assessment. Recently relieved of all their municipal debt with a billion dollar government program, the municipalities still continue to press for a revenue sharing formula for the long term.

Meanwhile Alberta continues, and will continue to grow, and much of it will happen in the greater Edmonton area, so that planning for the region is most important. The situation of various municipalities within the region drawing up their own plans, with not much regard to what the others are doing is leading to chaos, and many problems regarding transportation in the Edmonton central core, and adequate water and sewer services for the whole area.

The provincial government spent hundreds of thousands of dollars over the past three years on a regional utility study. The major recommendation was to set up regional water and sewer boards, the reasoning being that all communities, large and small must be adequately provided with these absolutely essential services.

St. Albert has a sewer line of its own and hoped to make money on it as a utility. It has taken five years to get an agreement signed with M.D. Sturgeon, due largely to the locating of a federal penitentiary in the M.D. of Sturgeon. The selling price desired by St. Albert has caused centres such as Stony Plain, Spruce Grove, Morinville and Fort Saskatchewan to delay action in bringing the St. Albert line into regional status. In the short run the line as a saleable utility may benefit St. Albert, but in the long run it may not. The costs of upgrading the line to environmental standards may be extremely high, given the need to vastly improve the quality of the polluted North Saskatchewan river. In this situation a regional line, with all customers sharing that cost, may prove the less costly route to follow.

In the case of water Edmonton is the supplier for the whole area of treated water, and has the capacity to service a population of more than two million. A regional water board would have more clout in dealing with Edmonton on water rates than each municipality on its own. Such a board could include St. Albert, Morinville, Legal, Gibbons and M.D. Sturgeon.

UNDER WHICHEVER PLAN GROWTH WILL BE THE SAME

The many applications for annexation presently before the L.A.B. by municipalities, owners and developers, if accepted, would fill in about the same area as is being proposed by Edmonton. The difference being that Edmonton's proposal is that the whole area be governed by the City of Edmonton. Over and above this, two and possibly three satellite towns are being proposed within or adjoining the Met area. A private firm last week submitted a proposal for 6,000 acres between Edmonton and St. Albert to be annexed to Edmonton.

SEEKING SOLUTIONS IS EXPENSIVE

Each municipality in the Edmonton region is required by the province to prepare a General Plan, which has cost taxpayers plenty for studies, extra staff, administration and consultants fees and they must be reviewed every five years. Annexation hearings have cost in the past, up to a million dollars for one hearing, as the barrage of lawyers and consultants come into play to present evidence on the annexation. Private developers requesting annexation must do the same, and they pass the costs along in more expensive lots and homes. All the municipalities within the huge met area proposed by the Edmonton annexation proposal are now faced with another expensive round of preparing ammunition against the annexation.

DO IT YOURSELF?

There are 67 elected representatives within the greater Edmonton area, including aldermen, councillors and MLA's, and 50 or more elected school trustees.

The Province, the municipalities and the ERPC have studied the area to death over the past 20 years. It would seem that given all the information now available to them, the municipalities could prepare their own cases, without again lining the pockets of squads of lawyers, bureaucrats and consultants. In the case of St. Albert, Alderman Barry Breadner who has considerable experience and ability, aided by the city administrator, could present the case against annexation to Edmonton. He could do so clearly and concisely, presenting the major, pertinent objections. All the studies and statistics can be compacted into about a dozen main considerations and need not be argued in lengthy detail by squads of "experts." Or are we to become a society of administrators lost in a pencil forest?

EDUCATION $'s TO TRANSPORTATION

The 1979 budget recently announced by the school board for district #6 will require an increase in its property tax mill rate from 5.03 mills to 7.75 mills. This represents a 54% increase in school taxes for the supporters of this school district in 1979.

It is alleged that the tax increase is necessary for the purchase of new school equipment and the enhancement of education programs. However, this budget also includes a substantial level of expenditure for the transportation of pupils who reside within the immediate vicinity of their school, often as close as ¼ mile. For the transportation of each of these pupils, the school board plans to spend in excess of $200 per year and collect a bus fee of only $80 per year.

Should we be subjected to a tax increase of over 50% when the school board is using education tax dollars to heavily subsidize unnecessary transportation?

Heather Hunter is first C.G.I.T. graduate

The St. Albert United Church will be the scene of a special church service on Sunday, April 22 when Heather Hunter, aged 16, becomes St. Albert's first CGIT graduate. CGIT stands for Canadian Girls in Training.

Heather, daughter of Jack and Louise Hunter, is a student at Paul Kane High School. Her official graduation from the program on May 1 marks the end of three years with CGIT during which she has been very active in many areas. She showed her talent for leadership by serving both as her group president and department president.

Heather's CGIT career has been coloured by her love of the outdoors, and she has been deeply involved in camping activities. She attended Sunrise Lake Camp in several capacities: as camper, backpacker and counsellor to staff children. To upgrade her leadership skills she participated in a special leadership camp for seniors as well as Camp Council and a special camp for backpackers.

Because she likes to remain active, Heather enjoys other activities outside the world of CGIT. She participated in the youth project, Katamavik, and is proficient at cooking, swimming, cycling, skiing, sewing and music.

Heather will again be honoured at a CGIT Mother and Daughter banquet to be held May 1. The theme of the banquet is "Celebration" and special guest speaker will be Mrs. Doris Wasiluk.

CGIT is now completing its program for the season. Watch the Gazette in September for news of registration. Although the program is affiliated with the United Church, any girl between the ages of 12-17 years is welcome to attend.

The purpose is fourfold: To cherish health, seek truth, know God and serve others thus fulfilling one's potential. The girls plan and carry out weekly programs under the guidance of leaders. If you are interested, attend a CGIT meeting and find out more about it.

QUILT FOR VIET NAM

Young ladies from the 6th St. Albert Busy Bee Hive joined in making a quilt for their service project in this The Year of the Child. The quilt, and many others like it, will become part of the Unitarian Service Committee's collection for needy Vietnamese children. Mrs. Ireen Slater, St. Albert U.S.C. representative received the quilt from the Busy Bees pictured here: Susan Allan, Shannon Atkins, Darlene Breen, An-Jeanette Capham, Adrienne Coonie, Elizabeth Haddad, Elvira Home, Krista Johnson, Janet-Lynne Martin, Elizabeth McDougal, Stacey Monteith, Jodi Ramer, Susan Rowlands and Kathy Young. Donations of blankets, quilts and afghans are still urgently needed - preferably dark colours. Phone Mrs. Slater at 459-4852.

Singing the blues

The next time you're taken with a "crazy" impulse, whether it be marriage or the axe murder of your neighbour -- consider the moon as a possible instigator.

Dr. Ralph Morris, professor of pharmacology at the University of Illinois Medical Centre states, "During periods of the full moon, there seems to be an increase in individual metabolism rates as well as an increase in tensions and anxieties."

Victims of bleeding ulcers may be baying at the moon (in pain that is) because studies at the university indicate that bleeding ulcer crisis peak just before the full lunar phase.

And that tight feeling you may get in your chest while gazing at the moon with your sweetheart might not be the love you suspect. A study of 88 patients with angina pectoris, chest pains related to heart disease, showed that 64 percent of the attacks came between the full and last quarter phase. "Only about 36 percent occurred at new or first quarter moon," said Professor Morris.

St. Albert Air Cadets in Review

By F/Sgt. C. Leibel

Thursday, April 5, two buses departed from the Community Hall for the A.G.T. Tower. From the observation deck of Vista 33, #533 cadets looked down upon the night life of Edmonton. Cadets also got a chance to tour A.G.T.'s museum.

After three weeks of waiting, the results from the scholarship boards have finally arrived. For the flying scholarship, F/Sgt. Lance Hymers was accepted. For gliding scholarship, Sgt. Steve Barr was accepted. For the technical training Sgt. Bruce Ward was accepted. F/Sgt. Cheryl Leibel was accepted for the ground, search and survival. Besides these cadets who have definitely been accepted for the scholarships, three of #533's cadets have been chosen as alternates. These cadets will receive the scholarship if the cadets who have been chosen are unable to accept or attend the scholarship for one season or the other.

On Thursday, April 5, newsletter and applications were given to cadets concerning summer camps. If any cadets wish to attend a summer camp these forms must be completed and returned as soon as possible.

#533's supporting committee, the Lions Club are selling tickets as a fund raising project. Some of #533's cadets will be delivering pamphlets containing information about this draw. The draw is to be made in a matter of a few weeks. Please help support the Lions Club's fund raising project for without them, many of the squadron's activities would not be possible.

Regular band, colour party and drill team practice will be held Monday. The annual drill and sports competition is Saturday at Griesbach. The senior drill team is entered as well as two sports teams. Volleyball and bordenball competitions start at 9 p.m. with drill first and sports following. Events should finish by 4 p.m.

Good luck to all the teams. We're going for our seventh win in a row.

Information about joining #533 Squadron may be obtained on Thursday evenings at the Community Hall at 0700 p.m.

MONEY COMING TO GAMES

The St. Albert Summer Games will be receiving support from Loto Canada and PetroCan says Dr. Len Nohert, Pembina Liberal candidate. Dr. Nohert spoke to Fitness and Amateur Sport Minister Iona Campagnolo during a recent Ottawa visit and later learned that Loto Canada and PetroCan have tentatively set aside $25,000 and $3,000 respectively for the Games.

Elect new executive to serve Handicapped

At its first annual general meeting April 9, the St. Albert Association for the Handicapped elected a new executive. volunteer workers. The ensuing publicity in a Journal article and column had further disturbed the board.

Aldermen were quick to apologize to Mr. Jaycocks for their part in the incident and Ald. Liesbeth Bakker said she regretted not coming to his defence.

"I'm sorry I didn't," she said "But I was just stunned!"

The board received several assurances that it was considered a valuable arm of the city's administration. Mr. Breadner remarked that the Report on Cultural Facilities and the Report on Off-Road Vehicles were illustration of the board's important function. He said he did not share the Mayor's views. A letter from the absent Ald. Margaret Smith was read out by Ald. Shields, confirming Mrs. Smith's agreement with other aldermen.

Mayor Harvey however, did not share in the rest of council's repentance. He told Mr. Jaycocks he had spoken as an individual and as such was entitled to an opinion and stated he would not retract this opinion. At this impasse, the discussion ended and the board exited.

Refugees arrive in Edmonton

The first of some 5,000 Indo-Chinese refugees to be admitted to Canada in 1979 are now arriving in the country with 36 having arrived in Edmonton April 5.

R. G. Gates, director general of Employment and Immigration Canada in Alberta and the Northwest Territories, said that all 36 of the Edmonton-bound refugees arrived Thursday on an Air Canada flight from Vancouver.

"All of these refugees escaped from Vietnam by small boat and made their way to refugee camps elsewhere in Asia," said Mr. Gates.

It is expected that all of the refugees arriving yesterday will be settled in Edmonton. However, Mr. Gates said that according to the current plan Alberta would be receiving approximately 45 refugees from Indo-China each month during 1979 and that the majority of them would be settled in Edmonton and Calgary with limited numbers going to Lethbridge and Red Deer.

The Canada Employment and Immigration Commission assumes the major costs associated with the initial settlement of refugees in each province. However, Mr. Gates noted that the Commission also depends to some extent on assistance from individuals, private organizations and other levels of government to ensure the successful settlement of refugees in the country.

In order to minimize problems refugees may have in adapting to their new life, attempts are made to permanently settle them as quickly as possible. The Employment Centre thus must locate houses or apartments for the refugees. Furniture, household supplies and clothing must be purchased. And the children need school supplies. It is also necessary to assess the refugees' need for language training and health care and to begin the search for employment.

In taking care of many of the refugees' needs the Commission depends to some extent on assistance from private organizations, individuals and other levels of government. Albertans responded generously to the plight of the Hai Hong arrivals with offers of food, clothing, furniture, housing and jobs.

If eating is any indication, some newcomers make the adjustment to Canadian life very quickly. One refugee mother said that when they first came to Calgary in December her teen-age children wanted rice. Now they want hamburgers and pizza.

Bilingual Associations prepare joint seminar

An information seminar will be held April 27 and 28, in Edmonton, for parents who are interested in bilingual education for their children. This seminar is being sponsored jointly by:

Awasis Program; Canadian Institute of Ukrainian Studies; Canadian Parents for French; Cree Language Program (E.S.S.B.); English-German Bilingual Association; Talmud Torah Society; and Ukrainian Bilingual Association; in co-operation with the Edmonton Public School Board and the Edmonton Separate School Board.

The evening session on Friday, April 27, will be dedicated to a general overview of bilingualism and its implications with guest speakers Dr. J. Cummins and Dr. S. Lapkin. Dr. James Cummins studied the Ukrainian and French bilingual programs in Edmonton in connection with his doctoral work at the University of Alberta. Dr. Sharon Lapkin has provided inservice training to Ukrainian bilingual teachers in Edmonton through the Canadian Institute of Ukrainian Studies. Both are specialists in second language education and provide service to many different language groups. They will give a brief description of the results of programs available and address the following questions:

1. What effect does the program have on:
 - a) English language skills?
 - b) Social Studies and Mathematics skills?
 - c) Intellectual development?
 - d) Students transferring to regular English program?
2. Is the program designed for the average achievers only?

There will be a question period following the addresses. This will be followed by a "wine and cheese" and a visit to "Curriculum Displays" set up by the bilingual programs.

The Saturday morning session on April 28, will consist of two workshops set up and conducted by each of the following bilingual groups: the Cree, the French, the German and the Ukrainian. These sessions will run concurrently. Parents will be free to choose which sessions they will attend.

For information and registration contact Mrs. Gail Stinson, 7603 - 119 Street, Edmonton, Alberta. T6G 1W4.

See the west at budget prices

Ride the range in British Columbia or pan for gold in the Yukon; experience the charm of the prairies or the excitement of Canada's western cities. These are just some of the choices Pacific Western/Transair offers in its 1979 vacation packages. All of western and northern Canada are included and at reasonable prices.

For a holiday that's a bit different, there's the 108 Ranch package: It takes you to a working ranch in British Columbia's beautiful Cariboo country where all you do is relax, have fun and enjoy the scenery. During the summer, spring and fall, the package includes eight days and seven nights of golfing, riding, fishing, swimming and tennis for $155 to $199 based on double occupancy. The winter package offers five days and six nights of cross-country skiing, skating, curling and tobogganing for $76 based on double occupancy.

Prices include accommodation, recreational activities at the ranch and transfers to and from the local airport. Meals, and airfare to and from home are extra. Each season at the ranch has its own charm but no matter what time of year you choose, you'll find the scenery stupendous.

The Capital Cities package features variety. You fly to your choice of Victoria, Edmonton, (St. Albert residents might prefer to drive or take the bus), Regina, Winnipeg, Whitehorse or Yellowknife, pick up a rental car and drive off in any direction you want. Explore the city; then move out to the country and sample rural life. Concentrate on one city and province, or string a few together. You'll discover a startling change of scenery as you travel from prairies to mountains and head north to the unique delights of the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

If you want to concentrate on Saskatchewan, the Sask-pass package provides a unique way to explore the province's cities, towns and agricultural areas. The Sask-pass allows seven days of unlimited travel by bus anywhere in the province for $49. Or, you can plan a seven-day Saskpass tour where you stay in selected hotels in any of five Saskatchewan cities for $149 per person based on double occupancy. Saskatchewan is known for its hospitality, and this type of tour ensures you meet the people who perpetuate this reputation.

These are just a few of the Pacific Western/Transair vacation packages. They are part of the Canada: So Much To Go For program launched last year by the Canadian Government Office of Tourism and private industry to encourage Canadians to travel at home. Pacific Western/Transair is one of five private-industry partners involved in the 1979 program.

Affordable prices are probably the main attraction. Pacific Western/Transair centres its budget prices around Saturdays. As long as your trip involves at least one Saturday night, you receive a discount of up to 35 percent on air fare, 25 percent off specified hotels and 25 percent off mid-size car rental.

An additional bonus is the bargain book of special tickets which allows discounts at specified hotels, restaurants, car rental agencies and attractions. The book will tell you what events are going on in the areas you are visiting and outline special attractions you won't want to miss.

Canada's western provinces and northern territories make excellent holiday destinations. If you're planning a trip there this year, contact your travel agent about Pacific Western/Transair vacation packages and take advantage of the reduced rates.

"Two-wheeling" safety taught by Pedal Pushers

A proud and triumphant moment will be experienced by thousands of young Albertans during the next few weeks. After much trial and effort, the thrill of operating a two-wheeler (without training wheels) will become a reality.

Since 1950, the Alberta Safety Council has been involved in the introduction of traffic safety to approximately 250,000 youngsters through the Pedal Pusher program. Development of Pedal Pushers has been financed entirely by the Alberta Safety Council. The program is put into the hands of local sponsors at no cost other than that of materials provided for the children.

Bicycle training is extremely valuable to traffic safety because of the chance of saving young lives. But of equal importance is its effect on the attitude and behaviour of a group which will be driving motor cars in a very few years.

The Alberta Safety Council's stated position is that "young and old alike should recognize and actively accept their responsibility for the safety of every child in traffic." However, there is a saying, old and true, that, "that which is everybody's job is nobody's job." At least one group in the community has to make child safety training its personal mission. When the ball has started rolling, more help will appear.

Organizations such as Community Leagues, service clubs, recreation departments, Home and School Associations, municipal police, R.C.M. Police, military police, provided their support last year toward graduating over 8,000 youngsters. Keeping in mind that 1979 is International Year of the Child, each sponsoring organization might consider extending their programs to include a greater number of children -- especially those children who perhaps require a little extra attention.

Anyone wishing information on how to organize the Pedal Pushers should contact Alberta Safety Council, 10526 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton, T5J 1Z7. Phone 428-7555. In Edmonton or Calgary, contact your local Safety Council.

Alberta cancer researchs receive grants

Alberta cancer research investigators will receive grants totalling $1,706,900, it has been announced by the Canadian Cancer Society's affiliate, the National Cancer Institute of Canada. Most of the Institute's money is raised during the April campaign of the Canadian Cancer Society.

Cancer Research scientists across Canada will receive a record of $12,634,939 in grants made by the Institute.

Chemotherapy, the treatment of cancer by the use of drugs, claims the attention of Dr. G. Alvin LePage and his associates at the Cancer Research Unit (McEachern Laboratory), University of Alberta. For their work in this field they have been awarded $794,359 by the National Cancer Institute of Canada, which annually distributes funds to support studies on the cause and possible cure of cancer.

Dr. LePage and his scientific colleagues at the McEachern laboratory in Edmonton work on various projects such as the mechanisms of the cell-killing actions of certain anti-cancer drugs, the development of new drug combinations, investigations of molecular mechanisms by which cells manufacture proteins and other related studies.

There were 14 other projects funded at the University of Alberta and four at the University of Calgary, including one program directed by Dr. L. Martin Jerry, which received $48,730 for a study to determine how cancer cells differ from normal cells in the body and how the body's immunodefenses react to these differences.

Four investigative programs were funded at the Dr. W.W. Cross Cancer Institute in Edmonton.

Business Guide out

A guide to licences and permits, Volume 1, is now available from Alberta Business Development and Tourism. The publication contains information as to what licences, permits or other documents are required to establish and operate a business in Alberta and where to obtain the necessary forms.

A companion publication A Guide to Licences and Permits, Volume 2, will be available shortly and will give details of the more complex procedures involved in obtaining approval for larger scale ventures. These include natural resource and major industrial developments.

The first volume contains tables and cross references that will access information on necessary provincial permits, municipal permits and federal permits where applicable in the establishment or operation of a business in this province. For further information contact Business Development and Tourism, Research and Analysis Branch, 19th Floor Capital Square, 10065 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta T5J 0H4, phone 427-3627.

University seeks additional funding

The University of Alberta, faced with a deficit budget of $290,000 for the 1979-80 fiscal year, will recommend that the provincial government increase its grant to the university.

The university's Board of Governors recently approved a motion which stated that the Board "recommend that the government consider supplementing its grant to this university by an amount equal to the sum which would have been derived from an eight percent fee increase."

The motion was based on the government's indication that it will not approve an increase in student tuition fees this year and the fact that the university has limited access to other sources of revenue.

A special workshop for nursing educators will be held at Grant MacEwan Community College.

This workshop is for those involved with student evaluations and will be held Monday and Tuesday, May 7 and May 8, 1979 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Deadline for enrollment is April 16, 1979.

Participants in this workshop will examine concerns regarding clinical evaluation using the case study method. Present assessment tools will be looked at and promotion, appeals and stressful situations for students will be discussed.

The session leader is Vivian Wood, B.Sc.N., M.Ed of the University of Western Ontario Faculty of Nursing. She has specialized in teaching courses in the assessment of student nurses and in the examination of student nurse problems. She has written a "Casebook in Nursing Education."

Professor Wood has conducted numerous workshops on test construction, evaluation of clinical performance, the borderline student nurse and other topics.

U of A announces enrolment quotas

The Board of Governors of the University of Alberta has approved student enrolment quotas for the 1979-80 academic year.

There are two changes from the 1978-79 quota structure, and both pertain to the Faculty of Engineering. Ninety students will be admitted to civil engineering, five less than in the 1978-79 academic year, and 100 students will be admitted to programs in electrical engineering, an increase of five students.

The Faculty of Engineering student enrolment allows for 500 first year students and 390 second year students. The distribution is as follows: 55 students in chemical engineering, 90 in civil engineering, 100 in electrical, 95 in mechanical, and 50 in mineral engineering.

Quotas in other university programs remain unchanged. Twenty first year students will be admitted to the acting and design program in the department of drama, and 210 first year students will be admitted to the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry. Dental Hygiene will have 40 first year students, and 50 first year students can enrol in the Faculty of Dentistry.

Law will admit 175 first year students, library science will have 35 first year students, and medical laboratory science and medicine will have first year enrolments of 36 and 118 respectively.

The Faculty of Nursing's post-basic program for registered nurses will contain 72 first year students, although this figure may later increase to 144. The basic four year program can accommodate 54 first year students.

Occupational therapy, with admission in the second year, will be open to 30 students. Other quota figures are: pharmacy and pharmaceutical sciences, 130 first year students; physical education and recreation, 180 first year students; and physical therapy, 40 first year students. Speech pathology and audiology will admit 25 second year students.

A quota for enrolment in the Faculty of Business Administration and Commerce is currently under review and, according to the Board's academic concerns committee, a proposal will be submitted in May or June, 1979. The current figures are 210 first year students and 200 transfer students. No decrease in the figures will be entertained, the Board said.

Regulations of the Board of Governors and the General Faculties Council require that the Board approve the admission quotas for the next academic year.

U of V program: down from the ivory tower

Representatives from the University of Victoria travel to Edmonton April 19 to discuss UVic's popular Co-operative Education Program, and other degree programs such as child care, nursing, theatre, microbiology and music.

UVic representatives will be available at the Four Seasons Hotel from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. to answer questions about the campus and its offerings.

Co-operative education is now an integral part of UVic's offerings and is available in the departments of chemistry, creative writing, geography, physics, mathematics (computing science, statistics) and in the School of Public Administration.

Co-op allows students to follow a program of academic training combined with experience in a working environment.

"Co-op is a program where the university and employers co-operate to give students a combination of academic training and practical experience," says Louise Mirlin, assistant to the director of co-operative education.

The combination of an academic degree and relevant work experience is very marketable," says Mirlin.

"Experience shows the program develops graduates of a high academic and professional calibre."

Co-op students alternate terms of classroom study with related work terms in business, industry and government.

Among the participating employers are Dow Chemical of Canada Ltd., Honeywell Information Systems, Calgary YMCA, National Research Council and Syncrude Canada.

Information on admission requirements, housing and a video-tape presentation will also be available.

The Skeptics Tank

Hemingway once defined morality in these terms: "What is moral is what you feel good after, and what is immoral is what you feel bad after." Herbert Spencer believed that "absolute morality is the regulation of conduct that pain shall not be inflicted." These two definitions, which say in essence that anything goes as long as one isn't hurting oneself or others, should be liberal enough to suit all but the moral anarchist. Unfortunately some of our cultural and social pursuits fail to meet even these criteria. This column has never been a hymn to conventional morality and it won't start now. However, even a dedicated champion of 'do-your-own thing' has limits, and these are drawn at the point when people are adversely affected by the pursuits of others. (I also draw the line at the seedy way in which formerly delicious sins are being presented). Having watched a series of late-night weekend rock shows, a name for the decade occurred to me: we're now enduring the Sleazy Seventies.

It was Don Kirschner's latest contribution to Schlock and Roll that is most disturbing. Granted, Kirschner is no more evil than anyone else, just more boring, but his show reflects the lack of any inspiration beyond the profit motive. When you let the bottom line be the sole dictator of quality, the show will fall short of top line as does Please Turn to Page A 14

Quest scorns Edmonton; the feeling is reciprocal

By Vicky Knight

The headline was eye-catching: "How the Good Old Toronto Sun Went West." As the Sun is neither old nor particularly good, I was immediately leery.

When I read the by-line, my suspicions were confirmed. In my high school years and later on the local daily, Ron Base and I snickered through our student and cub reporting days with much irreverence. Evidently, Ron is still snickering. The piece which so enraged my colleagues shows Base's talent for truculence as well as a disinclination to dig below the stereotype. However, I was not altogether surprised by the disparagement of things western. After all, this is a man who once returned to his hometown for a weekend wedding, enjoyed the hospitality of friends and then scuttled back to his lair at the Toronto Sun to write a scathing review of the whole visit! His friends were less than amused, as will Edmontonians be when they read Base's article in the April issue of Quest magazine. Although this is a puff piece, it can only have a divisive effect, something we don't need right now.

The east seems to be producing a virulent breed of writer these days, and Mr. Base seems to have been caught up in the rising tide of venom. Scribes on the Toronto Ottawa Montreal circuit are sounding what might best be termed a strident whine in their copy. Change is in the offing and these writers are profoundly allergic to any alteration to the Kingdom of Upper Canada. Not only are there rumours abroad that there actually is a world beyond the Manitoba-Ontario border, but some people are actually implying that out here on the Frontier, success is possible for those who have never even heard of Upper Canada College! Egad! These parvenus must be reprimanded for their presumption. Who better to help remonstrate than Ron, whose inborn jaundiced attitude is quite suited to such saffron-shaded journalism.

For starters, he patronizes Edmonton women for their puzzling reluctance to assuage the Sun's mania for mammaries' by becoming Sunshine girls. Ontario girls, says Base, are camera ready, "with nipples at full point," eager for Sunshine fame. The refusal of Edmonton girls to join their eastern sisters in objecthood only reflects their inherent provincialism, Base implies. On the contrary, they are merely wiser. They know that such exhibitionism is morally sleazy and climatically speaking, probably quite painful. Base particularly cites the infamous Grey Cup Sunshine Girl as evidence of priggishness. Bullroar! As anyone who saw the picture knows, it was worthy of contempt on aesthetic grounds alone. It was a lousy picture, resembling a promo glossy for the Gates of Heaven massage parlour. In their rejection of it, Edmontonians merely demonstrated a discriminating appreciation for the finer things.

Peter Pocklington was another victim of Base's bombast. Peter Puck is snidely mocked for hanging an Emily Carr original in his Ford dealership office, as if this in some way diminished the stature of the work. Surely Base has it backwards. The most banal location can only be enhanced by the presence of a masterpiece.

Base plays a familiar Eastern tune when he sneers delicately at the Edmonton cultural scene. Torontonians particularly resent the growing recognition that this city is getting, even internationally. When told by one resident that Edmonton was among the top three Canadian cities in terms of culture, Base says that the man made the comment without blinking. And no blink was required. The gentleman probably overheard any number of out of province artists exclaiming at the vitality of the arts in Edmonton. Praise of this nature has come from people like Broadway actor Paul Rudd, Canadian acting veteran Barry Morse and film star Ron Moody, to name a few. All agree there is a dynamism here not to be found in more sleek, complacent cities. The energy is nearly palpable.

When he says that the most fervent western defenders are refugees from the east, Base is right but he fails to see the significance. If Edmonton is the beer-and-bingo outpost perceived in the east, why have all of us elected to live here? Base would no doubt say money was the bait, and therein lies the crux of Eastern contempt for the West. It is rooted in envy. When easterners decry Alberta's nouveaux riches, it isn't the nouveaux they're objecting to.

Despite my obsession with the Base story, I did look at the rest of Quest. It is inconsistent, but interestingly so. A series on the threat to civil liberties was potent stuff, on a subject that needs all the press it can get, while there is still a free press to speak out. Michael Ryval writes hard-edged prose which coldly documents nightmarish infringements on individual freedoms. It was gripping.

Another piece, "What's Wrong With our Political Parties?" gives a lot of information crucial to an informed vote, as well as some interesting tidbits. However, Eastern myopia shows up again. In the whole examination of issues and Please Turn to Page A 15

"Weekend Jam," the Kirschner show.

The word sleazy keeps recurring, as I attempt to pinpoint exactly what was so disturbing about the program. It seemed to have no ethical direction at all, and no pride in craftsmanship was evidenced. It's no wonder, because this is not really a performance at all. This, is a slick packaged deal, an illusion of hot wax and VTR, lip synch and overdubbing. The line-up of talent reveals a dazzling lack of discrimination and taste. The subtle melodic mystery of Klaatu is followed by the inanities of the Unknown Comic. (He was funny once but he has run out of bag gags). A tender love song is followed by a dance that celebrates sadism. This same blindness to quality or the lack of it is not limited to television programs, unfortunately. In the world of commerce, the same indifference is evident in the sale of shoddy goods at exclusive prices; in religious circles it is seen in the willingness to embrace second-rate demagogues like Rev. Moo and Jim Jones. In politics, it was evidenced by the election of Richard Nixon, a second-rater of historic proportions.

Perhaps this is the most immoral aspect of the program, which is after all merely a reflection of the society it plays to. A passive acceptance, or even expectation of the second rate will reduce the aspirations of the next generation. Whether it's a rock program, or a religion high standards are not only nice to have, they are essential if humanity is to progress without backsliding into moral cultural and social inferiority. All this from a measly rock show, you mutter? Yes, because a rock show, with all its rock-related hype merely provides a magnified image of the standards of the society. The second rate looks even worse in punk style and the trend to a menacing mediocrity is easier to see.

LACKS HUMANITY

It looks to me as if the Kirschner show was put together by computer. Given Kirschner's seemingly bloodless personality, and the inconsistency of the show itself and it looks as if the material was chosen by a computer scan of group preferences. If the people are into sadism, then give them sadists, in this case, the two dancers. (The dance climaxes when the woman is kicked viciously in the jaw.) If people are into voyeurism, show them a peek-a-boo film clip of Rod Stewart nuzzling the breasts of a girl who is mostly in the buff. I shudder to think what Mr. Kirschner could come up with given a public craze for necrophilia.

This program has a big following. People whose sexuality is still in the formative stages. If their sexual habits develop along the lines seemingly advocated by this program then we won't have to worry about the next generation. They'll expire from exhaustion by the time they're thirty.

I'm also skeptical of the value of sadism to anyone, especially to those who have probably never confronted the reality. I hate to sound reactionary but "sadistic chic" in the form of Punk Rock (the philosophy more than the music itself) or modern dance stinks to high heaven. No matter what trendy disguises it might wear pain is pain, whether you like or not, so to speak. When someone has to suffer bodily harm to fulfil the wishes of another, both are in a tragic state. Why legitimize such a pathetic relationship? Is it necessary to present a stylized exhortation to wife beating in the guise of art? Will some young kid subconsciously absorb this violence? If so, will that episode join the host of his other past experiences which will ultimately determine whether or not he beats his wife? These questions are important, but the subject of morality is so vast we prefer to tiptoe around them. For those of us who have consistently demanded freedom in all things it is difficult to even discuss morality on a societal scale for fear of sounding fascist. The 'anything goes' philosophy sounded great in the Sixties, but perhaps there must always be a limit. If the people want romance, TV can give it them; if the people want lust, TV can give it to them. However if the people want pain, let them seek elsewhere than on public networks. This is not an advocacy of censorship however. Self censorship is the ultimate tool of morality. No-one can do it for you.

In recent months I've heard a lot about the resurrection of machismo in response to women's lib. It is not the machismo of by-gone heroes, but more the brutality of thugs. The trend was apparent on both Kirschner and Friday's Midnight Express. The host of the first show referred to the two Barbie Doll clones at his side as Rover and Spot! Yuck. On Friday, we were shown the Village People baying out their latest hit, 'Macho Man'. These guys are scary dressed in odd uniforms and other costumes - Indian Chief, electrician with tool belt etc. They stomp, shake their fists in unison and make menacing gestures throughout. There's a faintly fascist flavour to their act. Again, TV is perpetrating and legitimizing vicious behavior.

The show was not totally beyond redemption. Klaatu was great although the group of course did not make an appearance as it has never been seen publicly. On the other hand neither did Rod Stewart or Olivia Newton John. Both sent tapes of recent concerts, made to look as if they were live from Kirschner. In fact, the Olivia segment was the same tape as seen on the Friday night program. We're accepting cheap and shoddy methods without a whimper.

The whole picture of societal rot revealed in these and other programs make me very nervous. I tell myself its an over-reaction but life according to Don Kirschner conjures up bizarre visions of the Fall or some such holocaust. How much more depraved can we get than recent events which reflect the moral vacuum. Jim Jones and John Philip Gacy did not invent themselves. They were formed in some tortuous melding of experience and genes. Will we continue to decline, facing greater horrors?

Well, I know one thing for sure. I'll never again watch aTV rock concert. It's too hard on the head.

BUDDIES

Local steel guitarist John Lacey introduced me to a Flying Fish release of 1977 entitled BUDDIES. John has been interested in a little jazz direction on his Shobud steel lately, and the album, which features Buddy Emmons master steel player, is definitely jazz orientated.

You might question the pedal steel guitar as a jazz instrument, just as the violin has not been widely accepted. Through the efforts of virtuosi such as Joe Venuti, Stephane Grappelli and Stuff Smith, the violin has entered the realm of jazz. No more capable hands and brain could bring the pedal steel into the halls of jazz than those of Buddy Emmons.

Buddy Spicher is the violinist.

Guitarist Lenny Breaux is also on the album. You could almost call him Canadian, but he was actually born in Maine, U.S.A. Lenny rose to fame in Winnipeg and is hardly known outside this great country of ours. He is a very talented musician but performs rarely. Assisting with the guitar chores is Bucky Barrett. Also on the album is Charles Dungey on bass, drummer Kenny Malone and pianist Randy Goodrum.

I'm not going to discuss the album at length because I believe general comments are enough. If you are into this type of sound you'll like the album anyway. It is a different album, not country, not exactly jazz, and not country/jazz. It is good music. There are more of Buddy Emmons' records I will be reviewing in the future. After all, I have to get some experience with the sound myself.

All of the musicians are outstanding, but Buddy Emmons, Kenny Malone, and Lenny Breaux deserve the higher accolades. The album combines a choice selection of material with brilliant arrangements and outstanding musical talent. What more could you ask for in an album. (Possibly an idea of where you might find one.)

RAILTOWN JAZZ SOCIETY

The Railtown Jazz Society is an organization founded by a group of people from several walks of life dedicated to the promotion and preservation of "Jazz Music" and entertainment. Our objective is to provide outlets for the over-growing number of Canadian jazz musicians, singers and entertainers. In the future we plan to sponsor recordings, concerts, offer scholarships to worthy Canadian artists, and generally promote quality entertainment.

The so-called "Pop" music scene is a gigantic financial conglomerate which is controlled by a few people interested in helping the "rich get richer." The current disco scene is certain proof of that. We firmly resolve to do everything in our power to promote "Live Music" in all areas.

The Railtown Jazz Society is now accepting memberships for anyone interested in helping promote "Canadian Jazz." Donations or contributions will also be appreciated. Membership cards are available at the following locations: Ward Music, Giovanni's Music Store, Robert Stroup at 478-6202, The Hot Box, courtesy of Sid Estrin, and from Razbo during regular business hours at the Gazette.

The initial membership fee is $10 for the first year and $5 for each year thereafter. The presentation of the card entitles the bearer to the following: 10 percent off all records at A & A Records in Edmonton Centre, 10 percent off everything at Giovanni's Music Store and Ward Music Store, as well as a discount at any Railtown Jazz Society function where the cover charge is $3 or more.

BILL EVANS TRIO

It was certainly worth the listen to catch Bill Evans, Joe LaBarbara, and Mark Johnson at the Mayflower last Saturday. I wasn't impressed with the decor (sorry Willie), but at least they have good taste in music. Any aspiring drummers should take the opportunity to watch Joe LaBarbara in action when the chance arises. You would certainly learn a thing or two.

Quest

The other creditable effort concerns the middle class juvenile delinquent and should help dispel the myth that J.D.'s are dope-crazed slum dwellers. Suburban parents should find it enlightening, as well as disturbing. There were also dope-crazed suburbanites.

I found the rest of the mag disappointing. A story about stereo buying looked limp, as similar stories keep appearing in other publications with tedious regularity. I was bored silly by a story on the sale of Russian-made Ladas in Canada, but that may just reflect any personal aversion to cars, Russian or otherwise. Another piece on "executive malaise" described the plight of cliff dwellers high in the canyons of commerce. Poor little brutes. They have actually been encouraged to hire women and to train them for management, moans one neurotic exec. Sorry, I can't drum up a lot of compassion. Many intelligent, qualified women would trade in their newest Guccis just to have the problems these guys are confronting. If you have to have an ulcer, it's more pleasant to endure the pain in the executive suite than the typing pool.

Quest is not available on the newstands. It goes out by mail to a pre-selected group of readers in 21 Canadian cities. If you aren't among the chosen, don't fret. It isn't that the publishers deemed you unworthy. It's just that with their spotty knowledge of anything west of the Neilsen's chocolate sign in Hamilton, they don't know we're here!

THE ROOTS OF "REGGAE" MUSIC

Winter holiday makers to the Caribbean in the past couple of years have been talking about a new kind of sound, a new kind of music, with the beat that is alien and hard to describe, but nonetheless very danceable. Well, folks, this is called "reggae" music, and contrary to popular conception of newness or originality, it is a form of music that has been around for a long time.

Originally known as the "Blue Beat," then "Ska," reggae has been flourishing as form of music or another from the early 60's. But, hang in folks, a young singer from the then British West Indies (Nassau) called Emile Ford won a singing contest around July, 1959. This took off to what could be termed a minor music career. Forming a group called the "Check Mates," he had a string of hits, when he was superseded by another called Jimmie Justice. 1964 was the year of groups, both rock and r&b, but the West Indian community in England developed this kind of music specifically for dancing. As I said earlier, this was the bluebeat. BlueBeat was Jamaican, and it's prime mover was Prince Buster Campbell, a former boxer. However, the man to carry bluebeat to the charts was E. Recco and a young Jamaican lady called Millie. The song was 'My Boy Lollipop', and it made number two in the English charts in April '64. The sale worldwide was phenomenal. Her follow-up "Sweet William" made the charts, but this was the time the Beatles were getting stronger, and bluebeat vanished underground for a few years.

The six years of 1964 to '70 were the best in the history of rock music, both for musicians and the audiences. With the Beatles and The Rolling Stones in the midst of it all, California was nurturing the Flower Power Sound (Electric Prunes, Grateful Dead, Jefferson Airplane, etc.), and in England, Alexis Korner, and John Mayall, were founding the traditional English Blues sound, out of which came, Clapton, Beck, Micky Jones, Peter Green, (the original founder of Fleetwood Mac). The Jimi Hendrix Experience, etc. The movie and the event "Woodstock" was the climax of the flower power, and there was only one way to go musically, downwards. The Beatles split up, Hendrix died, Cream split up, Joplin died, the flower children got into straight society, and AM radio never had it so good.

Reggae never died. It went underground in England and resurfaced in Jamaica in its most powerful form. The 'third world' economy of Jamaica gave reggae its heyday, and themusic became the voice of the have-nots. It became political music, and as usual, the West Indian community in UK welcomed it. It reached North America through the efforts of record companies who thought they found an easy way to make some greenbacks. As a commercial music form, reggae failed, but as an underground music form, it is the in thing. Bob Marley is the first Jamaican superstar, but before him were Jimmy Cliff, Desmond Dekker, The Pioneers, The Maytals, Third World, Burning Spear, Prince Buster, Millie Small, and of course, Chris Blackwell, the boss of Island records in England, who first saw the potential of reggae as a valid music form.

Coming Next: Latin Rock.

Children's theatre presents "Cervantes"

The Citadel Theatre announces its third and final Children's Theatre production for the 1978/79 season. Entitled Cervantes, this historical dramatization of the life of Miguel de Cervantes (1547 - 1616) promises to be the highlight of our young people's theatre program. The spirit and the enthusiasm of the play is best expressed by the playwright himself.

"What is good luck? What is bad luck? Luck comes disguised in many forms, and Miguel de Cervantes spent much of his life in high adventure learning Fortune's ways and disguises. He thought up wonderful ideas for poems, plays and romances, and wrote and wrote, but not well enough. Only in the crawl space under his stairs, and in prison cells did he find peace and quiet, and there in those hideaways, toward the end of his life, he gathered up all his bad luck, and turned it into good, writing Don Quixote, one of the world's great comic romances. The play itself is a spirited romp that focuses mainly on Cervantes' early years of unwittingly gathering riches from hopes, dreams and misfortunes for his masterpiece."

LEN PETERSON

For a number of decades now Len Peterson has been turning out plays and stories for almost every type of dramatic expression: radio, television, theatre, film and print. In spite of the popular recognition awarded his works, Len has managed to maintain a roguish appreciation for the delicate difference between being praised and being castigated. His best known works include the novel Chipmunk (McClelland and Stewart) and the play, The Great Hunger (Book Society of Canada). Mr. Peterson is currently on staff at Concordia University in Montreal.

Cervantes is scheduled to run in the Zeldler Hall (cap. 240 seats) from Monday, April 23 through until Friday, May 11. Curtain times are Monday - 2:30 p.m. and Tuesday to Friday - 12:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Advance bookings only for these times will be accepted by the Citadel Theatre's school bookings department at 426-4811 (ext. 44). There will be additional performances open to the public on Saturday, April 28 and Saturday, May 6 at 1 p.m.

A mellow Rod?

By Shauna Oor

I expected glitter, glamour and a lot of acrobatics. Even the tickets reeked of a camp ego. What I got was a whole bunch of sincerity and good music.

The concert began a mere 25 minutes late when the R.S. emblazoned curtains parted to reveal a Rod clad in a Hot-Pink tracksuit. They popped headlong into "Hot Legs."

Right from the start, Rod was encouraging. He even asked permission from the crowd to take off his shoes and socks. "Cute," thought I. Then he zoomed into the successful ballads... "Tonight's the Night," a veritable breaking point, and "You're in My Heart" and "The First Cut is the Deepest." But, the show was all Rod. One was shockingly aware of the lack of communication between Rod and the band members, who disregarded Rod's futile attempts at interaction. Occasionally, bassist Phil Chen would pick up on Rod's vibes but the rest of the time the spotlight was on Rod and with good reason.

The man has mellowed slightly. On-stage he is the natural, sincere star he is offstage. His personality leaps out towards you and although he had to verbally encourage the audience to let loose, he wasn't worried.

The concert flowed well, relying on Rod's blues roots to bring the song quality to par. They also debuted a blues song they just "put together this afternoon" which was a little less than true since they had been practising it in their room the day before, but...

"Standin in the Shadows of Love" was one of the best parts of the show, concentrating on Carmine Appice's exhilarating drum solo, during which Rod changed from his tracksuit into a leopard shirt and tight leotards.

"Sweet Little Rock 'n Roller" was a slightly unsavory song that had Billy Peck doing another Chuck Berry bit:

it's been done before lads.

The crowd came alive to "Do Ya Think I'm Sexy" and though a bit short, was still sweet.

A great concert for first's, new keyboardist Kevin (largely heard and little seen) played, though shyly. First time an' all, ya know? When Carmine Appice was questioned as to the whereabouts of the previous keyboardist, he grinned and said, "he wanted to quit and so we sacked him." What ho, great fun, ay?

The concert was cut short. Backstage the roadies rolled out the multitudes of soccer balls but someone said, "not this time."

Came back for two encores, a few booed when he did not return for a third. Making a getaway, no doubt. A little action during the encores though, a beach ball rally and a netted black cap which Rod playfully adorned.

At least it matched.

Manufacture date can determine crib safety

By Paddle Mills (Mrs.)
Consumer Services Officer
Consumer & Corporate Affairs,
10225 - 100 Ave.,
Edmonton, Alta.
T5J 0A1
Phone 425-5660

The date on which a child's crib is manufactured can determine its safety. Any child sleeping in a crib built before 1974 may be endangered.

Recently in Ontario, a seven month old infant suffocated and died as a result of becoming wedged between the crib's mattress and the sliding gate. The crib was pre-1974.

The Federal Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs established safety requirements for the design of infant cribs, effective in 1974. This of course, was to make sure that incidents like the one above do not occur. However, regulations such as this, and the people who administer the regulation have very little control over those older cribs that families are purchasing second hand.

If you are in the market for a second hand crib, older than five years, or if you are presently using one - be sure it's safe. Look for the following:

- Space between the upright bars must be no more than 3 1/8". A child should not be able to get his leg, arm, or head stuck.

- The lock on the drop side must require two separate actions performed at the same time. This type of lock cannot be operated by a child.

- The mattress should not be more than 1 1/2 inches shorter than the length of the crib inside, or 1 1/2 inches narrower than the width or more than six inches thick.

An older crib or cradle can be made safer with a few simple adjustments. For information, write to the Federal Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, Consumer Services, 10225 - 100 Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta, T5J 0A1.

Health foods reconsidered

By Pat Doerksen
District Home Economist
Alberta Agriculture
Box 1020 - Morinville
Phone 939-4351

Recently, this column featured an article on health foods. Some confusion may have been created by this brief introduction to a controversial and complicated area. Therefore, the question "Health Foods - fact or fallacy?" will be considered again in light of the actual facts.

In taking a closer look at the facts behind the health food claims, many sources were referred to and supported by Dr. Mike Stiles, food microbiologist and professor at the University of Alberta.

Are Health Foods More Nutritious and Safe? Dr. A. B. Morrison, assistant deputy minister of the Department of National Health and Welfare has stated that, "there is no evidence that health foods as a group are more nutritious or any more safe than comparable conventional foods." Other scientists have reached this same conclusion. Let's look at the facts on which these experts have based their findings...

Organic vs. Chemical Fertilizers. There is no scientific basis for the claim that organically - grown foods are more nutritious than those grown using chemical fertilizers. (Organically - grown foods are those grown without the use of manufactured fertilizers or pesticides). Plants can only use the form of plant food that is broken down (inorganic), so to the plant it does not matter whether manufactured or organic fertilizers are used. If the soil lacks certain nutrients, it is the yield not the quality of the plant that is affected.

Researchers have also noted that an added disadvantage with organic fertilizers is the possibility of the bacteria Salmonella resulting in food poisoning.

Residues and Food Additives - Controlled. Claims are made that our food supply is being poisoned with pesticides and food additives. According to Dr. Richards, a food science professor at University of British Columbia, chemicals are not necessarily hazardous, it is the manner and amounts in which they are used that might make them hazardous. The additives permitted and the maximum amounts allowed are strictly controlled. The legislation is stringent and based on internationally accepted scientific studies of what is safe for human consumption.

Dr. B. Wolnak, food scientist, has stated that we know more about the safety of additives than we know about the naturally occurring toxins in foods.

Why Additives at All? Dr. B. Oser, a chemist and expert on food additives explains, "without them, baked goods would go stale or mold overnight, salad oils would separate and turn rancid, table salt would turn hard and lumpy, canned goods would become discolored or mushy, vitamin content would deteriorate, wrappings would stick to the contents..." Also, convenience foods from bake mixes to instant puddings would not be possible.

Processed Foods - Minimal Nutrient Loss. An expert panel on Food Safety and Nutrition states that the food preservation methods used today minimize nutrient loss, are safe and well standardized. Acknowledged losses in the food industry are probably less than losses achieved in home preparation of the foods.

The High Cost of Health Foods. Recent surveys show that organically produced groceries and health foods can cost up to twice as much as their regular counterparts in the supermarket (as reported in various Journals of Nutrition). A simple cost comparison in Edmonton last week showed the following: Please Turn to Page A 20

Dietary Supplements - Pills. According to the recent Nutrition Canada Survey, malnutrition in Canada is not serious enough to encourage a general consumption of vitamins and minerals. An adequate diet can be achieved with the proper balance of a variety of foods by following Canada's Food Guide.

Furthermore, the consumption of vitamin and mineral pills, especially Vitamins A and D in large doses can lead to toxic levels that are dangerous to human health. For more extensive information on vitamin - mineral toxicity you can contact the Alberta Agriculture office in Morinville.

Vitamin C and the Common Cold. The committee on Drugs of the American Academy of Pediatrics, 1975, stated that there was no scientific evidence that large doses of vitamin C are either safe or useful as a cold remedy. They also reported that hazards associated with large doses of vitamin C. Vitamin C in large doses can interfere with the absorption of vitamin B12 which cannot be corrected by taking more B12. Also, healthy adults can become conditioned to high doses of vitamin C and thus have an increased need for it when on a normal dose. This also explains the development of scurvy in normally fed children whose mothers took high doses of vitamin C throughout pregnancy. Furthermore, the body excretes extra vitamin C (after 100 mg.).

Until more information is available, it has been recommended by medical authorities that caution should be taken in exceeding the recommended dietary intake (of 30 mg. for adults) for vitamin C.

Fear or Fact. The appeal of health foods is not only an issue of nutrition. It is based mainly on the fear that modern scientific production and processing of foods somehow diminishes their safety, wholesomeness or nutritive value. According to the Canadian Institute of Food Science and Technology, all the evidence available to date shows that in these respects health foods are NOT superior to their counterparts in the grocery store. Nor is there any evidence to suggest a general need for dietary supplements.

In summary, if you are really concerned about quality nutrition, look for the facts before simply accepting claims made by the promoters of health foods. It will only be to your benefit to become an informed consumer.

Spring lamb, fresh frozen from New Zealand, has become the preferred choice in households seeking an economic, nutritious red meat. In fact, more and more people are finding lamb offers a taste of spring anytime of the year.

For your dinner try the traditional Classic Roast of Lamb, served with your favorite vegetables, perhaps new potatoes and zucchini.

CLASSIC ROAST OF LAMB

1 lamb leg New Zealand, about 5 lbs.
1 clove garlic, crushed
Salt and Pepper

Rub lamb with garlic, salt and pepper. Roast uncovered on a rack in moderately slow oven (325 F or 180 C) about 25 minutes per pound for medium rare if thawed, 37 minutes if frozen. For well done lamb, cook 33 minutes per pound if thawed, 45 minutes per pound if frozen. Serves eight.

Good news for carpet buyers

The Canadian Carpet Institute, a voluntary association of Canadian carpet manufacturers, has come out with some good news for carpet buyers.

They have developed a new labelling system for carpets: which will help shoppers identify the quality of the carpet in terms of its wearability. By comparing classification labels on various carpets, consumers will more easily select one that suits their own particular needs.

Carpets that have been submitted to the Canadian Carpet Institute for testing will be eligible for a classification label. If the sample meets the requirements set down by the institute, one of three labels will be applied.

The symbols, L, M, or P will appear on the label. "L" stands for 'light' and will mean that with regular care the carpet can be expected to keep good appearance for a minimum of three years.

"M" stands for medium wear and means that the carpet will keep good appearance in heavier traffic for a longer time than the "L" label.

The label with a bold "P" on it will indicate to consumers that the carpeting will give the very best appearance and wear.

More information on this new labelling system for carpets is available in pamphlet form from: Consumer Services, Consumer & Corporate Affairs Canada, 10225 100 Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta T5J 0A1.

TINY TOTS TIME [3 years only - FULL]

Location: Library Annex. Time: 10:30 - 11 a.m. Date: May 4 - June 29. Limit: 20 (Full). This is the first time a program for this age group has been offered in the Children's Department. Two staff members will conduct this story time and we request that parents not be present. As this is a Pilot Project we cannot guarantee that it will be offered again in the future, however, if a success in the spring, then we'll have it in the Fall.

Our Easter Egg Hunt at the Library was quite a success - so successful, in fact, that we never could have anticipated the hundreds of children that arrived eager to follow the clues in search of our Easter Bunny.

Fortunately we had enough Easter Eggs to go around but our poor Easter Bunny was really tucked out. Everyone had lots of fun tracking down the clues and the reward at the end of the search was sure worth it.

Our small and friendly Library will just have to grow before we attempt another program of this nature, but the large turnout was very encouraging and certainly set a precedent for the planning of future events.

Will M.D. roads benefit from large grant?

Relief may be in sight for the residents of M.D. Sturgeon seeking improved road conditions, particularly with regard to the Villeneuve Road and secondary roads #635 and #794.

In an interview this week with a senior official in the Department of Transportation it was emphasized that the Villeneuve Road (from Highway 2 at the weigh scales to Villeneuve) is the full responsibility of M.D. Sturgeon Council. It was felt however that under the recently-announced billion dollar grant program for the current year, this road would get priority attention by the M.D. In addition regular financial assistance, amounting to $150,000 will again be allotted to Sturgeon Council for upgrading this road. The one-time grant of $500 per capita referred to has no strings attached other than retiring municipal debt and a number of rural municipalities, including Sturgeon, were in a debt-free position or close to it.

Grading and a paving contract are in the offing for Secondary Road 635 this year, the Gazette was told. Under the 1979-80 program the road, (which joins Highway 43 at Onoway to Highway 15 at Fort Saskatchewan) will see grade work completed this year on the west end, and will then sit in graded condition. On the portion of the road from Highway 2 to #794, grading to paved standard will be done this spring and summer. According to the official, present Department plans are to tender a paving contract this summer on #635 from #794 to Highway 28 (at the Namao School corner). He estimated the Provincial expenditure on #635 this year at about one and a half million dollars.

Paving contract for Secondary Road #794 was tendered last year and will be completed this year by Ever-all Paving. The contract is for 10 miles of paving, starting at Villeneuve and going north. Provincial expenditure will be 1.6 million dollars. In addition an overlay on 794 between Pickardville and Westlock will also be contracted by the Province this year.

FOUR YEAR FUNDING REVIEW

In response to a question on provincial funding of secondary roads over the past four years, the following figures were provided, totalling $5,709,000.00; 1975-76 year; ($909,000); 1976-77 ($1,800,000); 1977-78 year ($1,400,000); 1978-79 year ($1,600,000).

Funding for primary roads (highways) in the period: 1975-76 ($185,000); 1976-77 ($3,400,000); 1977-78 ($3,200,000) and in 1978-79 ($2 million).

Municipal roads received financial assistance of $1.4 million over the past four years, under the regular grant program for all rural municipalities in the province. Please Turn to Page B 4

Bandits hit Villeneuve store

A lone gunman entered the Villeneuve Groceteria about 5 p.m. Friday and demanded the clerk on duty hand over the money in the till. The gunman fired one shot and fled with an undisclosed amount of money in a get-away vehicle. No one was injured in the incident.

Two persons were arrested in Edmonton the next day in connection with the robbery: Marcel Joseph Brunet, 17, of Alcomdale, and Roland Garnett Montroy of Spruce Grove were charged with robbery and appeared in court yesterday. Both were remanded in custody for a future court date.

In another incident, an 18 year old male was robbed of his car and wallet at knife-point near Namao on Saturday. The St. Albert Detachment of the RCMP are still investigating the matter.

RENOVATIONS COMPLETE

Sturgeon School Division office staff have spacious new quarters following a $358,225 renovation to the former Cunningham School in Morinville. (See photos and advertisement pages 3, 13 - 16). The official unveiling to the public is set for Monday at 7 p.m.

New school year

Board moves to cut staff costs

Trustees of the Sturgeon School Division voted Wednesday to accept a recommendation that could save $70,000 in staffing costs next year. Because of the high number of drop-outs at the high school (82 so far this year) central office will compensate by reducing the original count (September 15) by eight percent when hiring teachers. This method would eliminate overstaffing. The January 4 pupil count would be dropped at all schools.

Associate Superintendent Walter Heppler told trustees that typically 85% of the drop-outs occur in October leaving the high school overstaffed until the end of June. A certain number of the 'drop-outs' are actually students finishing programs at the end of a semester. Strathcona County uses a similar formula for staffing its high schools.

ECS programs will also see a staffing policy change following an appeal by the Namao ECS. Enrolments up to 27 students will be allocated one half time teacher. Twenty-eight - 33 pupils will get one half time teacher and one half time aide. Enrolments between 34 and 54 will be allocated one full time teacher and enrolments between 55 and 66 will get one teacher and one teacher's aide full time.

SCHOOL YEAR

Trustees approved in principle a 1979-80 school year referred to by administration as a return to the "traditional." The new year still needs input from the Principal's Advisory Committee and parent groups.

School will begin the day following the Labour Day weekend and end the last Friday in June. Christmas break will run December 22 through January 2, 1980 inclusive. Spring break will return to the traditional Easter Break running April 7 through 11th inclusive.

Trustee Ruth Wall was not in favour of a two week break at Christmas preferring instead to have it at the end of

P.I.C. opposes Board action

One spokesman said she thought Sturgeon Composite High School principal Bill MacDonald ran the place "like a reformatory" when she first looked at the situation in the fall, but now, like all members of the Parents In Communication Committee, she believed that Bill MacDonald was the reason the school had begun to pull together. When kids were skipping classes he put the pressure on and now they are attending. She said Mr. MacDonald was a young man and that "he will learn and gain from this experience." We believe in him and we stand behind him.

PIC Committee members were at the meeting of the Sturgeon School Board to voice their opposition to the Board's decision to not make permanent Mr. MacDonald's position as principal of Sturgeon Composite. He is currently under assignment as 'acting principal'.

Edith Kowalski, PIC chairman, told Board members that Mr. MacDonald's commitment to students would be missed and that not ratifying his position as principal of Sturgeon Comp would be detrimental to education.

Split noons under fire

It has become obvious that students and teachers at Sturgeon Composite High School are not exactly delighted over the split noon hour set-up in operation since February 2.

The results of a questionnaire circulated to students and staff at the high school show that a large majority of those affected oppose the idea and a smaller majority of those unaffected also are in opposition.

Cafeteria and janitorial staff lined up heavily in favour, citing less litter and improved seating space in the cafeteria as major factors. The janitors were 100 percent in favour while 60 percent of cafeteria staff members were in favour and the other 40 percent didn't have an opinion one way or the other. Most students felt waiting time had improved but didn't see any change in the amount of litter.

The most convincing argument against split noons (in this reporter's opinion) is the fact that 38 percent of teachers and 50 percent of students felt classes in session were being disrupted. Students also complained that it wasn't allowing enough time for noon hour activities (athletics, etc.) and meeting friends is a problem.

Teachers and students agreed that split classes result in lost time for studies, too long an afternoon and increased fatigue. They disagreed on whether two 40 minute periods were effective for learning with 66 percent of the students responding no and 53 percent of the teachers responding yes.

Most teachers agreed that the split noons had eased their supervisory duties.

School principal Bill MacDonald concluded that the split noons have "not sub-Please Turn to Page B 9

Sturgeon hamlets receive consider- ation

The province has recognized Calahoo, Cardiff, Villeneuve, Carbondale and Riviere Qui Barre as hamlets located in the MD of Sturgeon which are eligible for the Hamlet Street Improvement Grant. In order for the MD to collect the money, they must establish a boundary for the particular hamlet and set a population figure from the permanent dwellings located within the hamlets.

Council has sent the task of boundary establishment to the development officer and the population will be worked out during this year's census.

Councillor Kluthe in making the motion to comply to the province's requirements suggested that the MD should also ask the Province that the grant program be applied to the hamlets of Alcomdale and Lamoureux as well.

Under the program, hamlets of greater than 100 population can receive a basic grant of $30,000 plus $60 per capita and hamlets of a population of 50 to 100 persons can receive a basic grant of $10,000 and $60 per capita. Hamlets with a population of less than 50 persons will be considered on an individual basis.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY SENIOR SECRETARY/ ACCOUNTING CLERK

The Sturgeon Regional Recreation Council is presently accepting applications for one senior secretary/accounting clerk. Applicants should be proficient in typing, accounting, practices and principles, and the use of business machines. Other duties shall include: responsible for maintenance of records, files and office equipment; managing the secretary work pool and serving as secretary to the Sturgeon Regional Recreation Council.

The successful applicant must be available for periodic evening work, and also should be available to commence employment as soon as possible.

Applications should include a personal resume and references, as well as expected salary.

Applications may be forwarded to: Larry Kirkpatrick, Recreation Superintendent, Box 570, Morinville, Alberta. Competition closes April 30, 1979.

MD counting on you

The last time the MD conducted a census was back in 1976. At last Thursday's meeting council decided to have a census taken this year, sometime before June 30th.

Recreation had pushed for the census taking as most of their grants are figured directly from the past census. Larry Kirkpatrick reminded council that the population of the MD had increased significantly over the last two years, and recreation stood to receive a dramatic increase in grant money if the census figure was updated.

Gib Boddez pointed out to council that official population figures also directly affect transportation grants, and equalized assessment.

Councillor Crozier made the motion to take a census this year, but suggested it should just be a head count without added questions to minimize the cost. Recreation agreed to help alleviate the cost further by compiling a data once it had been gathered. The last census cost in the neighbourhood of $5,000.00.

M.D. Council Briefs

The MD Council finally approved the sewer agreement with the City of St. Albert. The matter was first raised early in 1974.

Deputy Reeve Lawrence Kluthe met with the Hon. Marvin Moore to discuss the dragging Thorhild controversy. The minister will be taking the matter back to members of the caucus for discussion. Mr. Kluthe told Mr. Moore that the MD expected to recover costs they incurred servicing Division One of the County of Thorhild for the last four months of 1977.

The MD has directed its solicitors to assist the MD in preparing opposition to Edmonton's proposed annexation.

The MD Council has been notified by the St. Albert Fire Department that while they are repairing fire equipment, the Morinville Fire Department has been asked to stand by. The MD has sent a letter to the City of St. Albert informing them that they expect the St. Albert Fire Department to go through the proper channels. They request future correspondence between the two bodies be directed through the city hall. They will also remind St. Albert that they are responsible for supplying adequate equipment under the Fire Agreement.

The council has agreed to extend long term disability as part of the ongoing salary negotiations to its staff if 80% of the staff are in agreement. The staff will discuss the matter in the near future.

Sturgeon School Board Briefs

PARK RESERVES

The Board decided Wednesday to seek legal advice in their dispute with MD Sturgeon over Park Reserve and School Reserve land dedications. The Board feels it has a right to money in lieu of land for its 'share' because most often the parcel is too small for a school site yet the Board must provide schooling to children living in the new subdivisions.

Trustee John McDonnell

suggested to other Board members that if the Board cannot get an agreement with the MD (re: money in lieu of) it will go to the Edmonton Regional Planning Commission to put its case.

HIGH SCHOOL BUS

Sturgeon Composite will hang on to its bus following a recommendation of the Board's Transportation Committee. The committee looked at three alternatives - sell, remain as is, or put the bus on a regular route. John McDonnell moved that if an additional bus is needed in September, the high school bus be incorporated into a route (of short length). He felt that by owning their own bus they might have a reasonable indication of the costs involved in operating; presumably an advantage when settling contracts with the Sturgeon bus drivers. The bus will be used for high school trips the remainder of the time.

LIFE COURSES

The Board will be exploring the possible methods by which it can have its Life 15 courses continued at the 25 level. Trustee Joyce Porsild told other trustees she was receiving requests for 25 and 35 levels of the program.

Division administration pointed out that costs involved in developing curriculum made it prohibitive to a small district and that in any case Alberta Education approval would not come before September 1981 given that the courses were developed as quickly as possible.

Mr. Tony Taylor, director of Instruction told members that Life 15 was currently being evaluated by Alberta Education with recommendations (including Life 25 and 35) due around the first week of May. Apparently the curriculum branch of Alberta Education is about two years behind with some concern expressed by E. A. Torgunrud, director of curriculum, that the political arm of government was putting pressure on the department (presumably the Heritage Resource Learning Project).

Redwater Trustee Ruth Wall suggested Sturgeon lobby Edmonton Separate to develop courses at the 25 and 35 level as it was they who developed the 15 level course, "Perspectives for Living."

Mr. Taylor also went over new trends in curricula with trustees. He will come before the Board in the near future with his recommendations which will likely include the implementation of a new Social Studies course for most or all grade levels. The new program was developed by the Heritage Resource Learning team and includes greater provincial and Canadian content.

SCHOOL GROUNDS

The school grounds at both Horse Hill and Camilla will be levelled and graded this summer on the recommendation of the Building Committee chaired by Trustee Don Hood. The committee recommended that the work be let to a private company for commencement in early July. It was generally agreed that the likelihood of the MD finding the time to do the work was minimal although trustees agreed to send a letter anyways. If the MD is able to do the work, which the Board wants a July commitment for, taxpayers would be given a break on costs.

In any case trustees feel work on school grounds is past due as put succinctly by John McDonnell. "The School Board has done damn little or nothing to improve school grounds." Mr. McDonnell has been pushing to have grounds work including in school construction for the last year.

AWARD

Trustees approved a request for sponsorship of an award for the Grade 9 improvement program at Namao School. The Award, $25, is equal to that already in existence in the regular Grade 9 program.

How's this for a phone bill

Sturgeon School Division ratepayers put up $1,400 every month to pay AGT for services rendered. Central Office alone accounts for $560 per month and this does not include any long distance toll charges.

While we're on bills look at this one for natural gas: $3,325 per month at Sturgeon Composite. How would you like a bill like that for heating your home? It's little wonder the school levy is predicted to increase this year. If gas and phone bills are like this imagine what it's like at payroll time. Salaries usually account for about 4/5's of a Board's operating budget.

March and not necessarily Easter.

Both Trustee Porshild and Trustee Everitt mentioned that they had had some complaints from the public over the fact the spring break was not timed for Easter. Mr. Everitt would like to see the number of operational days increased to the maximum 200 recommended by the School Act. Division Superintendent Frank Robinson said the only way he could facilitate 200 operational days (days teachers are at work) would be to shorten the Christmas break, start before Labour Day or end school June 30 rather than Friday the 27th.

As it stands now all schools have 198 operational days with grades one - nine pupils attending 190 days and high school pupils attending 189 days.

vince.

The MD had 1,243 miles of municipal roads in 1977, and in 1978 the figure dropped to 1,229.5 miles.

"In fairness," said the official, all levels of government are caught in the inflation squeeze, and cost per mile for building and maintaining roads have risen sharply. However M.D. Sturgeon has benefited to a larger extent than many rural municipalities over the past four years.

It seemed to this reporter that the unexpected one-time grant to municipalities this year will be the biggest factor in getting badly-needed road improvements in Sturgeon. Council is under continuous pressure in this matter - and the grant netted them $6,684,500.

Our final question on municipal assessment brought home the fact that municipal government, even in rural areas, is big business.

Equalized assessment for taxation purposes in 1977 was $9 million, 700,000 dollars, when the population of the M.D. was 12,861. In 1978, with a population of 13,369 the equalized assessment was $67.8 million dollars.

Vipers wind up successful year

The Morinville Pee-wee "BB" Vipers travelled to Blairmore for the Provincial Pee-wee C hockey tournament on March 23, 24 and 25.

Their first game was against McLennan on Friday, it was a very close game with McLennan winning by a score of 2-1. Jack Christie played an outstanding game in goal and received the Most Valuable Player award for Morinville.

The second game was against Blairmore on Saturday, the Vipers winning with a score 12-0. It was a good team effort by the boys with Murray Siesleski receiving the Most Valuable Player award.

Sunday they played their third and final game against Red Deer. The Vipers won this game by a score of 5-3. Tim Quinn received the M.V. Player for this game.

Though the Vipers missed going into the final game Sunday evening because of their loss to McLennan on Friday, the boys, parents and friends enjoyed the trip and the hospitality of the Blairmore people. The final game of the tournament was between McLennan and Banff. The team returned home Sunday night and continued their league finals against Spruce Grove Wednesday at Morinville. The boys played well but lost 5-4 to Spruce Grove. They had played their first game of the series in Spruce Grove before the provincials and lost it 7-2.

The last game of the best of five series was played in Spruce Grove the following Saturday and Spruce Grove emerged as the Sturgeon-Pembina Pee-wee "BB" champions, Morinville second.

In summary the 1978-79 hockey year for the Vipers was successful, in that they placed second in league play and made it to the finals. They won their zone in provincial play earning their way to the provincial finals where they displayed a fine exhibition of team hockey.

The coaches would like to commend the boys on their conduct and good sportsmanship shown throughout the year.

and did a fine job. The best defenceman of the year went to Dave Schriver. The most gentleman player award went to Curtis Purdue who was penalty free for the entire hockey season. Congratulations boys!

P.I.C. opposes Board

ber said she didn't think the Board's reasons for taking its position could be strong enough. Mr. MacDonald, she said, had always been very sincere with us (PIC) and showed concern with students and teachers; "perhaps more than Central Office gives him credit for."

The president of the Students' Union said, "Mr. MacDonald has always taken time with us and I feel most students would like him to remain."

One PIC member asked the Board what it had based its decision not to make permanent Mr. MacDonald's position on. Chairman Lois Hole's response was that, "On our ASTA solicitor's advice we can't discuss the case."

Another PIC member asked if it was true that the next principalship at Sturgeon Comp would be permanent and not acting as Mr. MacDonald's was. Mrs. Hole replied, "Yes." The member then asked if the Board would not then be dealing with an unknown quality and Mrs. Hole replied "There is nothing to say that the new man will not be every bit as good (as Mr. MacDonald)."

A PIC member asked if

Mr. MacDonald's role in the formation of PIC had anything to do with the Board's decision and was told that the Board felt just the opposite and encouraged this sort of participation.

One of Mr. MacDonald's fellow staff members defended him saying that through the years he had worked with Mr. MacDonald he had grown and learned and the school had at last "really come together." He told the Board that a "flip flop (change of position) here would be very welcome by many." He said that although he could not speak for everyone at the school, he had been in consultation with many staff members and students who would be happy to have Mr. MacDonald as principal.

It is board policy to hear delegations at one time and make any decisions concerning the delegation at a later date to avoid confrontations or hasty decision-making. Chairman Lois Hole, however, did concede when questioned if it was now too late to change the Board's decision that, "It is never too late."

The final decision will likely be known by the next Board meeting April 25.

Club Reporter.

The Legal Clothing and Crafts Club held their general meeting on March 6 in the Legal Recreation Centre. The meeting was called to order at 7:45 by Terry de Champlain. The secretary then read the minutes and they were adopted as read. The treasurer then read her report and it was adopted as read.

At this meeting we were told a curl-a-rama and bowling would be held. The bowling was held on March 25 at Rosslyn Bowl. The fee was $2.50 per 4H member.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:05.

After the meeting the treasurer wrote two cheques. One to Mrs. Froese for buying the supplies needed for the lunch and a cheque so the 4-H could rent the Recreation Centre for their meetings. Our next meeting will be held on April 11 at 7:30 in the Recreation Centre.

Darren McDonnell played hockey this past season with the Beverly Warriors. The team had a very successful year winning the Federation Juvenile city hockey championship at Confederation Arena in March. On April 1 they played in Calgary and went on to win the Provincial championship. Congratulations to Darren, his teammates and coaches.

Mr. George Shewchuk will be at the Namao Community Hall on Monday, April 23 at 7:30 p.m. to offer a one evening course in gardening. This will be especially interesting for first time gardeners and new acreage owners. The course includes landscaping ideas with shrubs, plants and flowers. Everyone interested is invited to attend, there is no charge for the evening.

Namao U.C.W. met at the home of Mrs. Barbara Horricks last week with a good attendance. Mrs. Rose Rubiliak was present to tell the ladies of her recent trip to Trinidad and her visit to the girls school that Namao Church supported last year. A drive for Bissell Centre in Edmonton is planned for May and articles may be left at the church the week of May 21 - May 25. Good used clothing and household goods are once again urgently needed. Men's and ladies clothing is needed at Alberta Hospital and these items will be delivered there.

The congregations of Namao, Patricia and Bon Accord will hold a joint service called "Friendship Sunday" at the Bon Accord Hall on June 10 at 10:30 a.m. Keep this date in mind and plan to attend.

Get well wishes to Mrs. Ada Potter in Sturgeon General Hospital with our prayers for her better health very soon.

Alcomdale News

Mrs. J. Doidge had her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Arnst of Regina as house guests recently.

Visiting Mrs. J. M. Bailey recently were her cousins, Mrs. N. O. Gagne of Spruce Grove and Mrs. A. T. Miller and husband of Calgary.

CHILDRENS PYRAMID

The children of the hamlet will have for the coming season a new place to play on the recreation grounds. Mr. J. Burrows brought a number of big tires and made a sort of pyramid for the children to climb upon and during the recent mild spell they made good use of it.

MEETING

The Alcomdale Community League meeting April 4 had only four members turn out so no meeting could be held. - it is to be hoped more members will turn out for the next meeting which will be May 2.

SPRING SUPPER

The spring supper will be held in the Alcomdale Community Hall on Sunday, April 22 from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Doidge and Mr. and Mrs. C. Moren spent the weekend of April 7 in Calgary where they attended the Conference of the Westburne' Drilling Co. the firm they work for in Alberta and the Arctic.

Jimmy Burrows celebrated his fifth birthday with a family party and as his little friend Marlon Doidge was recuperating from a bout of the measles and was unable to attend, the Burrows family took the party in part to Marlon's home. The cake was the centre of attention and was white in the form of a clown with orange hair and all the clown extras including a sparkler wand which intrigued the small guests.

R.Q.B. woman convocated

Aimee Flynn of Riviere Qui Barre is one persistent lady. Ten years ago she enrolled in the four year Early Childhood program at the University of Alberta and last November, one husband, two children and 10 years later, she received her Bachelor of Education degree.

"I'm sure a lot of people around here wondered when I'd ever get it," said Aimee.

Aimee grew up in Riviere Qui Barre with her parents Raymond and Cecile Como who are long-time residents of the area.

Before she had her own children, Susan 3½ and Shannon, 2, Aimee taught at the Sturgeon Heights School.

AIMEE FLYNN

Aimee plans to begin teaching again as soon as her children are in school. "I would like to teach kindergarten somewhere around here," she said.

All is well with Namao Communication Committee

By Bob Coles
Last Wednesday must have been too long or perhaps it was Tuesday night that's to blame. Anyway, in a story I wrote that appeared on the front page of the Sturgeon Section last week headed, "More Parent Involvement at Sturgeon Composite," contained a number of errors.

First off, it was not PICC (Parents In Communication Committee) it was the Namao School Communication Committee and has nothing to do with Sturgeon Composite High School. I would also like to apologize to Mrs. Joyce Bevan who appeared before Sturgeon School Board with Janet Reed (not Reid) her name is not Joyce Bebit as reported.

Mrs. Reed was kind enough to inform me of my errors, and while I had her on the phone she related additional information on the activities of the committee.

Having received approval from the Sturgeon School Board, the Namao Communication Committee met with the principal of the Namao School, Mr. Letts last Monday. The committee left him a list of 22 parent volunteers and information on what the group is interested in doing. Mr. Letts will present the information and list to members of his staff for their perusal. The volunteers will only enter the classrooms at the request of the individual teacher. The committee believes most of their involvement will be centered around field trips and assisting in the library.

Mrs. Reed would like to inform all parents there will be an important meeting at the Namao School gymnasium on Thursday, May 10 starting at 8 p.m. The main topic of discussion will deal with a sex education film called "Then One Year." The film is provided by the Sturgeon Health Unit.

Gibbons News

By Karen Hogg

The Brownie Packs of Gibbons and their leaders would like to thank everyone who attended their annual Easter tea April 7. They would especially like to thank the mothers for their generous donations of baking, white elephant and their valuable time. The tea was a huge success and the proceeds will be used to help send the girls to camp.

Winners of the door prizes donated by local merchants: Mrs. Helen Williams, mirror; Stacy Scott, flower pot and plant; Mrs. Reg Austin, towel set. Susan Jones won the jelly bean guess. The raffle for the cake was won by Nancy Foster and the Bliip game was won by Betty Porath.

The annual Girl Guide and Brownie Cookie Day this year is May 5. Watch for more details regarding this event.

Congratulations to Fred Hutchings and Trent McCurdy of #524 Sturgeon Air Cadet Squadron on being chosen for separate scholarships. Fred was awarded an exchange scholarship which could quite possibly be in Europe and Trent was awarded a gliding scholarship which will send him down to Manitoba. Congratulations, boys!

Congratulations and best wishes to Bill and Linda McEwan on the birth of a son, Dennis William who was born on April 6, weighing in at 5 lbs. 4 ozs. A nice little brother for Lee to hug! Proud grandparents are Cam and Mary Taylor and Bob and Vi McEwan.

Don't forget to buy your tickets in advance for the Curling Club wind-up which will be held on May 4 at the Rim. Tickets are available at the Royal Bank or any committee member of the Curling Club and also the Town Office. Hope to see you there.

The Gibbons Sunday School Circle will be holding their annual Tea, Plant and Bake sale, Bazaar and White Elephant sale on Saturday, May 5 from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Sunday School. Everyone is invited to attend. Tickets for our quilt will also be on sale with proceeds going to the seniors at Spruce View Manor. Hope to also see you here!

The Miss Amway contest is being put on solely by Danny Tremoyne - it has nothing, we repeat nothing to do with the Sturgeon River Agricultural Society's Ag. Fair being held June 15, 16 and 17, 1979. We wish Mr. Tremoyne every success in his venture, but would like to note any reference to the Fair in his advertising is misleading.

Has anyone in Gibbons thought about all the work that is done in this town by volunteers. I have heard a lot of complaints but not too many nice things said about our various groups. So instead of taking them for granted take a moment to read this article and think about it.

Minor sports - without the executives they wouldn't even get off the ground. But when it comes to elections where are all the people who grumbled about the way they were run the previous season? The ones who do show up, don't even thank the past executive, if for nothing else all the hours donated.

Guides, Brownies, Cubs and Scouts - what about their leaders who are teaching our children to grow up to be good citizens? They give up their weekends to go to camp, and spend hours during the week to arrange the different programs.

Have you ever thought of the Community Hall? If it wasn't for the work of 8 - 10 people who raise enough money through dances to pay the taxes and upkeep you wouldn't even have a hall.

When do you personally say thanks, or as a community is there a "Thank You" printed? The above listed are only a few. The arena, is another run-by-a-volunteer Board of about 12 people, there is also the Curling Club and most important the Fire Department. I could not name every group in town as I would run out of space, but please take the time to find out who the executive is of the group you are interested in and for once instead of going to them with a beef or complaint, shoock them by saying Thanks.

Gibbons is very fortunate to have them working for us.

POT LUCK SUPPER

All those living in the Gibbons area are reminded to be sure to include the Community Pot Luck supper in their plans. It is to be held on Friday, April 20 in the Rim. The Rec. Board will supply coffee, tea, cold drinks for the children, and rolls. Bring your supper - and your whole family - to the Rim by 6:30 on April 20.

Several groups and organizations in the town will have displays and people on hand to inform you of what's available in the town in the way of culture, craft and recreation. After supper, the adults will have an opportunity to discuss with the Rec. Board, the 1979 plans for new and existing programs. The RCMP will be there to discuss programs such as Block Parents and Neighborhood Watch for those who would like to learn more about them, or perhaps be involved in the implementation of such programs.

Children will be entertained with films during the discussion period.

This is a family night for everyone. If Gibbons is your community, come out and exercise your right to have some input into the future of the community.

Anyone wishing more information is invited to call either Rick Milligan - 921-2490 or Lorraine Brooks - 923-2056.

stantially been a solution to our 'over-crowding' problems, in the opinion of students surveyed."

Alternatives suggested include additional rooms open for eating and socializing, vending machines and opening the open air courtyard to student use. An overwhelming majority of teachers and students felt the cafeteria facilities should be expanded.

Trustees, having just received the report the morning of the meeting, supported John McDonnell's tabling motion to allow them time to study it before making a decision. Joyce Porshild voted against tabling perfering to make the decision at that meeting so that she could have an answer to inquiries she had received.

The matter will be brought from the table next meeting.

Gibbons Library News

Before you go to the polls on May 22, you might like to read about two of the main contenders for the job of leading Canada's government for the next four years.

In the Gibbons Public Library you will find "Joe Clark: A Portrait" written by David L. Humphreys. The author tells of Joe Clark's childhood in the High River district of southern Alberta, his marriage to Maureen McTeer and his election to the leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party in 1976.

George Radwanski has written "Trudeau" and gives the reader insight into the man who has governed Canada for the past 10 years. From his childhood, through his education, his years as a writer and academic, his 1965 plunge into politics, his election to the post of Prime Minister in April of 1968 and through the "Trudeaumania" years, Mr. Radwanski has covered many aspects of Pierre Trudeau.

"Exploring Canada from Sea to Sea" is an illustrated trans-continental journey. Beginning at Montreal, venturing into the Maritime Provinces, traversing the Prairies and the Arctic wilderness and ending on Vancouver Island, this book illustrates the many-faceted lives of the peoples of Canada as well as the contrasts in its geography.

"The Face of Canada" is a comprehensive picture of Canada, put together by five different authors. Canada's famed beauty, its prodigious natural resources and the widely differing lifestyles and customs of its people make up this picture.

"Our West" is a pictorial journey through the rural and urban Western provinces. Children as well as adults will enjoy this colorful book which was donated to the Gibbons Library by Block Brothers Real Estate.

Children are invited to attend the Story Hour on Saturdays from 1 to 2 p.m. They may also choose from the wide selection of books available for various age groups. Be sure to introduce your children to the non-fiction section as well as there are a number of "how-to" books available for children.

Regular library hours are from 1 to 3 p.m. Wednesday and Saturday, from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings. If you wish information on the services available through the library, be sure to visit the display area at the Community Pot-Luck Supper on April 20. A member of the library board will be on hand

Gibbons Sunday School Circle

There were several items of correspondence - an invitation from the Last Round-up to join them at Dew Drop Inn on April 26 at 1:30 p.m. There were also "thank you" cards from the Beavers and also from Sacred Heart Church Catechism class, for the use of the Sunday School building.

Marj. Taylor gave the treasurer's report.

There was a good deal of discussion about plans for the annual tea and bake sale. There will also be a bazaar table and white elephant, with a fish pond for the young fry. It will be held in the Sunday School building on Saturday, May 5, 2 - 4 p.m. Members were allotted their place to help for the afternoon.

their attendance at the workshop held in the Jewel Box at Bon Accord, March 30.

A sincere thanks to all the speakers who took the time from their busy schedule to inform us - and gave us direction. I'm sure it was appreciated also to the ladies of the Golden Gems who supplied a most delicious lunch.

The Dew Drop Inn will be open for games Thursday, April 19. The next regular meeting will be held April 26, when the (Sunday School Circle) will be our guests

Pre-emergent Avadex® BW. Because controlling one growth of wild oats may not be enough.

Avadex® BW works in 7 crops. And it continues to control germinating wild oats in these crops for six to eight weeks after application.

It certainly makes sense that the longer you control wild oats, the more wild oats you'll end up controlling. And the lasting wild oat control Avadex® BW herbicide by Monsanto provides means you can control over 90%* of these weeds—whether you plant wheat, barley, flax, rapeseed, mustard, peas or sugarbeets.

Pre-emergent Avadex BW controls wild oats before they break ground.

Avadex BW offers pre-emergent control because it is absorbed directly by young wild oat shoots—controlling them before they do their worst damage. So with Avadex BW you not only have long-term wild oat control, but you also help prevent wild oats from stealing soil moisture and nutrients from your crops. And the better the conditions your crops have for growing, the better your chances are for higher yields.

This year, consider pre-emergent Avadex BW for controlling your wild oats. It controls them early—and it controls them growth after growth—for six to eight weeks after application.

Actual results.

Bon Accord News

By Sadie Allen

Members of the Bon Accord 4H Fast Stitch Clothing Club held their final meeting for this season on April 7. The meeting was called to order by the president Lorne Carleton. The pledge was led by Dodie Gawreletz. Roll call for this meeting was "Am I Ready for Achievement Day?" The secretary, Karen Rockwell read the minutes of the last meeting and treasurer, Simone Rivet presented the treasurer's report. First year member Nicole Kapitski gave a report on bowling. I'm sure that all the girls who attended bowling enjoyed themselves. Mrs. Rivet gave a report on the district meeting. Achievement Day will be held on Saturday, April 21 at 1 p.m. at the Bon Accord Hall. Our theme for this year's presentation is "Pacific Paradise." There will be a fashion show, demonstrations and various award presentations. Coffee and lunch will be served and everyone is cordially invited to attend this show.

This report was submitted by Club Reporter - Cindy Danake.

Redwater Report

CARDIO-PULMONARY RESUSCITATION

Redwater's third CPR course is scheduled to be held Sunday, April 29, 1979 at the Redwater Pioneer Club. It is an eight hour course, after which graduates will be certified by the Canadian Heart Foundation as "Heart Savers."

CPR stands for Cardio-pulmonary resuscitation. Cardio refers to heart and pulmonary refers to lungs. Hence, resuscitation of the heart and lungs.

If someone's heart stops, for whatever reason (eg. heart attack, electrocution, drowning, etc.), all circulation stops. With no circulation, no oxygen gets to the brain and brain death begins in four to six minutes.

CPR teaches rescuers to pump the heart for the victim and to provide life-sustaining oxygen by artificial respiration.

This course is being taught all over Canada and the United States. An example of some statistics: In North America, 50 - 60 percent of victims of cardiac arrest (heart stoppage) die before reaching a hospital. In Seattle, Washington, one out of every five persons knows CPR. In Seattle, 30 - 40 percent of victims die before reaching hospital. The death rate is cut in half!

The heart-saver course is recommended by the Canadian Heart Foundation for lay people. The course includes:

- 1) One-man CPR - procedure of heart massage and artificial respiration on a victim of cardiac arrest by one person.
- 2) Triple Jaw Maneuver - Cross and Finger Sweep - procedure to ensure an open airway in someone who may have swallowed his tongue.
- 3) Recovery position - a safe position in which to put an unconscious victim who does not need CPR. The main objective is to ensure that if a victim vomits no emesis will get in to his lungs.
- 4) Conscious obstructed airway procedure - A conscious victim is choking. (Cafe coronary).
- 5) Carotid pulse-check procedure - Find and count the main pulse - the Carotid pulse.

If you missed out enrolling in this or any of the preceding courses, the CPR Association of Redwater will be offering more CPR courses at regular intervals in the future.

From The Chairman Of The Board

As Chairman of the Board, I am very pleased to be able to speak to electors, through this annual report, on the major activities and decisions of your Board during the preceding year.

Growth in school population continues to place demands for additional school facilities. The occupation in January of the new addition at Horse Hill School enabled the Board to move six free-standing portable classrooms from that centre to Namao and Sturgeon Composite High School to relieve space problems in those two schools. The Board has recently obtained permission from the Department to proceed with an addition to the new Sturgeon Composite High School. The Board has also instructed the administration to prepare documents for additions to the Redwater and Namao Schools. The new attached portable classrooms will be added to each of the Bon Accord and Gibbons Schools this year to alleviate growth pressures at those centres.

Early in 1978, all members of the Board toured the Division to gain first hand knowledge regarding school facilities at all centres. On June 1st, the Board conducted a public meeting at Redwater with a view to determining the feeling of the electors concerning the continued operation of the Redwater High School. The people of Redwater have expressed very strongly their desires to have their high school continue in operation.

In early spring, the Board created a new central office position known as Director of Instruction. In May, Mr. A. Taylor, former principal of Sturgeon Heights School and first principal of Sturgeon Composite High School, was appointed to fill the position. Mr. Bill MacDonald, one of the high school vice-principals, was named as acting principal of the Sturgeon Composite High School. Mr. Taylor's major responsibilities are in the area of supervising the regular instructional programs, the introduction of curriculum changes and in-service training of instructional staff.

Due to the large increase in 1978 in the equalized assessment, most of which was associated with the industrial assessment on the fertilizer plant south of Redwater, the Board was able to maintain the same requisitioning rate (35.85 mills) as it had in 1977.

The Board spent a great deal of time in developing new policies during the past year. Many of these policies were required as a result of the operation of the new high school. New student conduct and student attendance policies have been adopted and implemented. Policies regarding the maintenance of student records and the evaluation of student achievement are in the developmental stage and will be formally approved in the near future. A policy on work experience education, and others related to student credit load, continuing education courses, and criteria for locally developed courses have also been adopted. The Board also adopted a code of ethics for trustees.

The Board has entered into a tuition agreement with the Thibault School District in Morinville and has adopted a policy which gives recognition for tuition fees and a transportation allowance for resident students registered in French programs at Thibault School in which French is the language of instruction for at least fifty percent of the instructional day.

Considerable improvements were made to school facilities and grounds during 1978. The Horse Hill School was redecorated both inside and outside during the summer vacation period. The Board plans to have at least one school completely painted each year. A tender was let for the paving of the driveways at the Namao, Bon Accord, Sturgeon Heights and Camilla Schools. Unfortunately, due to bad weather in the late fall, the contractor was only able to complete the Namao School driveway. The three other driveways will be completed as soon as spring weather conditions permit. A contract was let for the repair of the old gymnasium and replacement of roofing on older sections of the Gibbons School.

Here also due to weather conditions, the work was not all completed before winter set in. Landscaping in the form of tree planting and grass seeding was done at the new high school and the new Divisional office building.

A feasibility study of connecting the Horse Hill School to the St. Albert sewer line, which passes about a half-mile south of the school, has been done and there is every likelihood that this could proceed following negotiations between the M.D. and St. Albert concerning municipal hook-ups to the line.

A number of meetings have taken place with the councils of the included village and towns as well as with the Sturgeon M.D. concerning municipal and school reserves as provided for under the new Planning Act which became effective during the course of the year. The purpose of the meetings has been to endeavour to establish an agreement with each of the municipal authorities which will ensure adequate future school sites which might also be shared for community recreational purposes.

Considerable negotiations took place with Department of Education Officials and the Minister of Education concerning a $299,000 cut back in the Division's supplementary requisition equalization grant due to changes in assessment resulting from boundary changes. Through such action the Board was able to have $112,000 of the cut-back reinstated through an incremental grant.

The conversion of the old Cunningham School to a Divisional Office and the computerization of accounting services were completed in the last year. Details of these changes are provided in other sections of the annual report.

The proposed annexation of 40,000 acres of Sturgeon territory by the City of Edmonton if proceeded with will have a profound effect on the operation of the Division. In addition to the loss of 800 students, the annexation would reduce sharply the assessment base of the Division and the area contains high assessment property.

On behalf of the School Board, I would like to express thanks to Mr. F. Robinson, our Superintendent, and other members of our central office staff, for the hard work and dedication which they have given, not only in coping with the many problems associated with growth in the system but in the day to day care, maintenance and supervision of the programs, services and facilities of the Division. Thanks too are extended to all members of the teaching and support staffs at the school level. The effectiveness of the educational programs of our schools is due largely to the time, effort and dedication which they expend in the educational interests of the students of our system.

Chairman

School Operation

Sturgeon School Division No. 24 operates 10 schools with a total student enrolment, as of December 21st, 1978, of 4367 (kindergarten to Grade XII). The total teaching staff at the school level numbers 222 teachers. Additionally thirty-one paraprofessionals, four full time counsellors and four certified administrators (Superintendent, Associate Superintendent, Directors of Special Services and Instruction) provide support and consultative services to school programs and staffs.

The schools, number of students and staff are as follows:

School	Number of Students	Number of Teachers	Number of Paraprofessionals
Bon Accord (K-Gr. 9)	421	20.5	2.0
Camilla (K-Gr. 9)	476	25.0	2.5
Gibbons (K-Gr. 9)	552	26.0	*5.0
Horse Hill (K-Gr. 9)	598	30.0	2.5

Colony School (Gr. 2-9)	10	1.0	0
Totals	4367	222.25	31.0

(*2.5 of these are employed as rehabilitation aides for handicapped children)

Of the 222 teachers, 27 are deployed in providing services to students with special educational needs.

The pupil teacher ratio at the school level is 19.04:1 and at the system level 18.38:1. Class sizes vary from 10 students in a special education class to an average of twenty-seven in a regular class.

In addition to the Secretary-Treasurer and his Assistant, the Director of Facilities and the payroll accountant, four stenographer-clericals are employed at the Divisional office level. A staff of two library-technicians are employed in the central instructional materials centre and three individuals are involved in the warehousing and distribution of school supplies, instructional materials and equipment.

A staff of six maintenance workers, nine custodians and twenty-six part-time caretakers under the supervision of the Director of Facilities, is responsible for the maintenance and janitorial services for all school buildings.

A fleet of sixty-eight privately contracted buses provides transportation services for all students with the exception of those students residing in Bon Accord, Gibbons and Redwater who attend the local school.

The School Board is composed of seven trustees elected in the fall of 1977 for a three year term. Trustees and the subdivision areas from which they have been elected are as follows:

Subdivision 1 (Camilla School area) - Mr. John McDonnell; Subdivision 2 (Bon Accord School area) - Mr. Keith Everitt; Subdivision 3 (Redwater School area) - Mrs. Ruth Wall; Subdivision 4 (Gibbons School area) - Mrs. Joyce Porsild; Subdivision 5 (Horse Hill School area) - Mr. Don Hood; Subdivision 6 (Namao School area) - Mr. James Ward; Subdivision 7 (Sturgeon Heights School area) - Mrs. Lois Hole. Mrs. Hole has been elected by the trustees as the chairman for the current year.

GROWTH IN THE SYSTEM

Growth in student enrolments for the system as a whole has been in the order of five to six percent per year for each of the last two years. In September 1977, the total school population stood at 4133 students (K-Gr. 12). By September of the following year, the student count had risen to 4390 for an increase of 257 students.

This growth is due largely to residential development in the included towns and village and acreage development in the rural area particularly along the valley of the Sturgeon River. Six free standing portable classrooms leased from the Edmonton Public system and four from Grande Cache belonging to the Department of Education, have been pressed into service to temporarily accommodate students resulting from the increased growth until such time as new construction can be brought on stream.

At the present time, the Department of Education has given authorization for an addition to the Sturgeon Composite high school which will increase its capacity by two hundred and fifty students. With the exception of a Mechanics 12 Laboratory, this construction will be of the attached portable design in order that it can be relocated to another site at such time in the future as another high school is warranted. It is hoped that this construction will be pretty well completed by early fall.

The Board has also approved of the preparation of statements of need for additions to the Redwater and Namao Schools. These should be finalized and, if given government approval, work on the projects commenced sometime during the 1979 calendar year. Undoubtedly school space needs at other centres will also have to be given careful consideration to meet the space demands resulting from housing developments throughout the Division.

DIVISIONAL OFFICE

After many years of leasing office space from the Municipal District of Sturgeon, the School Division has established a Divisional Office Building of its own. During the course of 1978, the Board let a contract to renovate the old four-room Cunningham School located in the town of Morinville, into a Divisional office building. The school had been leased, since shortly following its closing in 1971, to the Sturgeon Regional Recreation Council. Occupation of the building took place in early September after a five-month temporary accommodation of the Divisional office in portable classrooms behind the Sturgeon Composite high school. This was necessary in order that the Recreation Council could be accommodated in the M.D. building and the Cunningham School vacated for renovations.

The renovations, which ran at about two-thirds the cost of new construction, have converted the old school into a modern, practical office building with as long a life expectancy as had it been newly-constructed. The five acre site is sufficiently large to allow for future expansion of the building to meet the demands for additional office space as the school system continues to grow.

COMPUTERIZATION OF BOOKKEEPING AND PERSONAL RECORDS

During 1978, the Board authorized the leasing of a computer to be used for maintaining the Divisional accounting system, the maintenance of staff personnel records, pupil personnel accounting, as well as for school timetabling and test-scoring purposes.

The accounts payable, general ledger and payroll are now being processed through the computer and other programs are in the process of being developed. The computerization of records will permit the Board to have much more information available, and with faster access, to assist it in its decision making and monitoring roles.

Instructional Programs - Regular

Sturgeon School Division continues to offer a varied and comprehensive program to students from Grade I through XII. Major thrusts, throughout this past year have been directed towards development of Sturgeon Composite High School programs and policies, in its second year of operation, and towards a review of offerings I - IX.

Sturgeon Composite High entered its second year with many of its initial year problems behind it. The school building and grounds were essentially completed and students and staff had begun to develop the routines, procedures and policies which are so essential to the smooth operation of a school. The growth of cocurricular and extra curricular activity in the school attests to the development of good school spirit. Interscholastic sports teams have had good success in volleyball, basketball and in gymnastics and some excellent work has been done in the fine arts area - principally music and drama.

A locally developed program L.I.F.E., which centres on individual growth, was successfully implemented. Parents and students alike have enjoyed this course offering, a great deal.

After a critical review of texts, and teaching materials in the Elem. Jr. High School last year, several major textbook changes were implemented in the fall of 1978. A new integrated Language Arts series was introduced at the upper elementary level and new Language and Literature texts replaced the old series in junior high. A new junior high Mathematics series introduced throughout the junior high grades, has been well accepted by teachers in the schools of the Division. Subject area teachers have had an opportunity to meet periodically to discuss the materials, evaluation procedures and instructional practices used in their teaching specializations. Groups meet under the direction of an administrator and have made some very worthwhile contributions to the educational process in this jurisdiction, including the painstaking analysis and piloting of textbooks.

Some extremely good work is being done in the area of fine arts. Excellent instructional music programs, including two in string and six in brass, are operating in the elementary and junior high schools. These programs serve as excellent student motivation for the music programs in school, and generally do much to raise the status of fine arts in the eyes of students.

INSTRUCTIONAL POLICIES

This school year has been a time of intense review of many aspects of school operation, and several new and revised policies have been developed and adopted, or are being considered for adoption, by the Board.

EVALUATION

Principals, teachers and administrators have wrestled with the problems of student evaluation and have attempted to devise a Please Turn To Following Page

Instructional Programs - Regular

policy which treats students uniformly, reflects provincial standards, is fair and just and allows for appeal. The trend throughout the Province appears to be in the direction of greater standardization of course objectives and evaluation procedures, consistent with the move to improve student performance in the basics."

ATTENDANCE

High school student absence has in the past, been a major problem in high schools throughout Alberta. The Divisional policy, which recently received Board approval, calls for constant attendance of students with little tolerance for inexcusable absence.

VOCATIONAL

A great deal of research and discussion has taken place on the nature of the vocational program offered at S.C.H.S. Policies which represent the Board's philosophical stand on these programs are soon to be finalized and should serve as a basis for decisions related to student selection for industrial programs, and to the manner of offering these programs.

WORK EXPERIENCE EDUCATION

Recently adopted policy has allowed Redwater and S.C.H.S. to engage in Work Study and Work Experience Programs. Students move into the work world and experience, for periods of up to six weeks, the work environment. This year, students have worked in welding shops, hairdressing salons, hospitals, stores, garages and a variety of other establishments under the guidance of teachers. Such experience frequently adds relevance to academic courses at the school and permits the student to survey the work fields and make a more rational career choice.

PRACTICE TEACHERS

The Division has co-operated with the Faculty of Education, U. of A., to enable seven student teachers to come in to classes at all levels and work with teachers to gain experience at a practical level. Typically each student teacher spends a four to six week term observing and then actually teaching classes under the supervision of the regular teacher. These young people, fresh from courses in current theory, invariably make an important contribution to the schools in which they serve.

SCIENCE FAIRS

Several Divisional schools have organized science fairs, designed to permit students to develop and exhibit some aspect of their school science program. Interest of students and parents has been outstanding and benefit to regular science programs is evident. Science fair winners have an opportunity to compete at the provincial and national levels.

FUTURE DIRECTIONS

1. Major revisions in the Social Studies program (1-12) and the Mathematics programs (10-12) will influence Sturgeon Division in the coming year.
2. More standard methods of evaluation will be sought for students throughout the Division.
3. An evaluation of program effectiveness in several subject areas throughout all Divisional schools, will be undertaken.
4. Methods of improving teacher/administrator in-service will be investigated.

Instructional Programs - Special

The unique educational needs of pupils which cannot be met through the regular programs are attended to by special education programs. Some assistance is obtained for these programs through special education teaching position grants, the School Foundation and the Educational Opportunity Fund. The balance of costs to provide classes for educably mentally handicapped pupils, learning disabled pupils and for pupils with social or emotional difficulties are locally funded.

A staff of 27 teachers and three para-professionals who have a commitment to pupils who have experienced serious difficulties in progressing at an average rate in regular programs are presently employed by the division. In addition to being interested in helping disadvantaged pupils, these teachers have gained expertise through special training or experience to meet their commitments.

Three EMH classes are operated at Namao School for slow learning pupils at the primary, elementary and junior high school levels. Three teachers and a teacher-aide working with 43 pupils produces a pupil/teacher ratio which permits individualized instruction to a greater extent than in regular classes. The pupils progress in a modified academic program at a pace compatible to their abilities and skill levels. The academic program is complemented by industrial arts and home economics at the junior high school age.

Children, grades one, two and three, with learning disabilities, receive help in a resource room operating in each of the schools, except Horse Hill School where there are two such facilities. The teachers who design and teach the resource programs have special training in diagnosing and remediating difficulties associated with the learning processes. The learning disabled children receive help individually or in small groups for varying amounts of time during the instructional day. The greater portion of the day is spent in the pupils' home room.

Special Help classes were established in each of the schools at the beginning of this school year. Special Help Teachers assist pupils at the grade four, five and six levels to catch up in basic math and language skills they missed or failed to master in earlier lessons. In addition to working toward improving language and mathematical skills, these teachers support development in the perceptual and self-concept areas if necessary.

The Junior High School Improvement Program, offered at Namao School is available for boys and girls age 13-15, who have failed to master the Junior High School course of studies. The emphasis of the Improvement Program lies in upgrading basic academic skills. The Industrial Arts and Home Economics component of the program aid in the motivation of the pupils and gives them opportunities for some "hands-on activities." The program can accommodate 64 pupils who for the major portion of the day, are divided into four groups.

The Academic Occupational Program offered at SCHS is designed to meet the needs of students who have a strong vocational interest and whose mastery of the basic academic skills at the completion of Junior High School is not adequate to permit them to complete successfully a regular high school program within a three year period. As for other special classes, the pupil/teacher ratio is lower than for regular classes. A/O pupils spend approximately half of their time in academic subjects and the balance of the day in vocational subjects preparing themselves to enter the working world in a trade, service occupation or technology.

For those pupils whose needs cannot be met through programs within the division, financial support is provided and arrangements made to attend classes in the two Edmonton School systems or such schools as St. Mary's Salesian Junior High School, Winnifred Stewart School, Evelyn Unger School for Language and Learning Development, School for Autistic and the Glenrose School Hospital.

All pupils requiring placements in special educational settings are referred to a school psychologist for an in-depth diagnostic assessment. Parental approval as well as a school psychologist's recommendation are the pre-requisites for all special placements. The school psychologists and counsellors also provide consultative services to teachers, administrators and parents in relation to the educational and personal needs of any pupil.

The addition of a counsellor at the beginning of the school year brings the total of pupil personnel staff to five, including the Director of Special Services. The Counsellors are available to any pupil on request to assist him/her with educational difficulties, personal concerns and, educational and career planning.

The Early Childhood Services programs continue to be an important aspect of the educational system. The principal or vice-principal acts as the ECS co-ordinator at each centre. Parental input into the ECS program is made possible through each Local Advisory Committee. These programs have become an integral and necessary part of a child's educational life. The young pupils are provided with readiness activities to prepare them for the academic work in Grade 1 and also are afforded opportunities to adjust physically and socially to the school environment.

TRANSPORTATION SERVICES

There are 68 contract school buses operating in the Sturgeon School Division. On every school day, these buses transport nearly 3,200 passengers and cover 5,300 miles (8,528 km).

Forty-two of the school buses provide independent transportation services to the Division's six Elementary/Junior High and Redwater Schools as follows: Bon Accord 4; Camilla 8; Gibbons 6; Horse Hill 10; Redwater 3 and Sturgeon Heights 10. The additional twenty-six buses provide transportation services to the Sturgeon Composite High School and to the Namao Elementary/Junior High. These buses accommodate Special Education and High School students from the area of the entire School Division to Namao as well as providing transportation service for all the Namao attendance area for all grades.

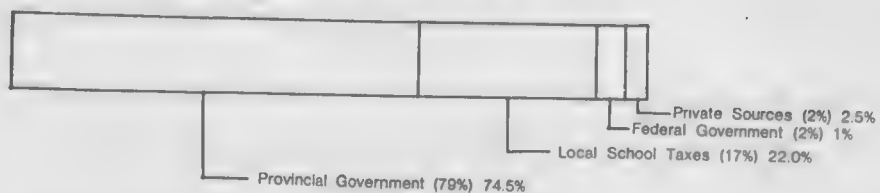

It is Board Policy to provide transportation to all students within its jurisdiction who reside more than one and one half miles from a Divisional School, however in most cases, gate service is provided for rural students, provided that the bus is not required to deviate from its normal route and provided safety considerations, nearness of residence, turn-about points, time elements, etc. may require that a loading and unloading point other than gate be designated.

Students residing in rural subdivision are generally picked up within the subdivision provided that subdivision has adequate and suitable access (loop road) requiring no "back-ups" for turn-around and provided that, in the opinion of the Board, the road system meets minimum standards to safely transport students without being impeded by road design, road conditions, traffic or parked vehicles. Pick-up stops in a rural subdivision normally will not exceed two stops and are at the discretion of the Board.

THE GAZETTE SPORTS

St. Albert Mites enjoy weekend in Saskatoon

The St. Albert Tire Uniroyals made their long awaited trip to Saskatoon on the weekend of April 6, 7 and 8.

In their first game Friday night, the Uniroyals seemed just a little bit up-tight and were outplayed in the early part of the game, but good goaltending kept the game within reach. Late in the third period against the Saskatoon 'Mite Rep-Team, the Uniroyals scored their second goal to get back in the game at 3-2 in favor of the Saskatoon team. Then with the goaltender on the bench, the Uniroyals tied the game with 19 seconds remaining. In the sudden death overtime period, the puck went from end to end with the Uniroyals scoring the winner to advance on the 'A' side.

Saturday morning the Uniroyals were back on the ice against the highly rated Rosetown team. Once again the St. Albert boys fell behind 3-0 but battled back to 3-3 by the end of the second period. Rosetown once again went ahead 6-4 in the third but the Uniroyals came back with a late goal to make it anybody's game. And amidst great excitement again tied the game with 19 seconds remaining and with six skaters on the ice. The teams went end to end again with lots of chances at both ends for the first ten minutes of overtime and it was not until the eighth minute of the second overtime period that the St. Albert boys won their second straight to go on to the 'A' side semi-final.

By then, it was a very tired team that hit the ice Saturday afternoon against Landis. The game, just like the previous two, saw the Uniroyals come back to a one goal deficit late in the game but a couple of penalties denied the St. Albert boys the chance to pull the game out of the fire again.

Judging by the response by some of the local fans, the Uniroyals played very entertaining hockey and left a very good impression in Saskatoon.

The boys and the parents who made the trip, would like to thank their coach, Mr. Bill Shore, for a very enjoyable weekend. Please Turn to Page B 19

Lacrosse - alive and well in St. Albert

For the past six weeks, anyone dropping into the gym at W.D. Cuts School on a Thursday night would have been greeted with the sight of boys rushing up and down the gym floor, practicing the intricate art of throwing and catching a lacrosse ball. True, tennis balls were used in the gym; but the action remains the same. The St. Albert Lacrosse Association would like to thank the City and W.D. Cuts school for allowing us to use their facilities while awaiting an arena.

Now, with hockey over for another season; we have moved into the Perron Street Arena - where, from Sunday to Thursday, the teams will be practicing in full gear. For anyone who has never seen this truly exciting game - do drop in and take a look. At present we are short of Novice and Pee-wee players - and registration forms are available at both the Sports shops in St. Albert, as well as at all the practices. Final registration will be held on April 29 at the Perron Street Arena. It's a great sport - and everyone is welcome!

The Association will be holding a 'Bottle Drive' on May 5 - and all contributions on May 5 - and all May 5 - and all contributions would be greatly appreciated.

Anyone wishing further information on Lacrosse, please contact Bob Lane at 458-2155 or Terry Baller at 458-9039.

Fun Run coming

The second annual Gazette City of St. Albert 'Fun Run' has been set for Sunday, May 27, beginning at 2 p.m. The 4 kilometre run had 103 participants last year, and it is expected that there will be at least double that for this year's run, and maybe even triple.

The run will be held over the same course as last year, but in reverse. The starting point will be at Sir Alexander Mackenzie School, and runners will proceed east along Sir Winston Churchill Avenue, turning north on Boudreau Road. Runners will continue along Boudreau and turn left at the bottom of the hill onto Sturgeon Road. The course then turns south into the Braeside Ravine along the footpath, continuing back onto Churchill Avenue, then back to SAM school. The reason for the change in directions is that the runners will find it easier to go down Boudreau and up the ravine, rather than down the ravine and up the fairly steep Boudreau Road.

All participants will be required to pay a nominal fee of one dollar, and will receive a 'Fun Run' T-shirt in recognition of their participation in the run.

So put on your running shoes and start practising. May 27 is getting closer and closer.

Marty O'Kell On Sports

WHAT AN INCREDIBLY SLOW WEEK IT'S BEEN for local sports. At this very moment I am sitting at my desk beating my head with a baseball bat trying to think of something interesting to write about for this column. Perhaps I'll fill it with little bits of things that most of you don't really care about. Maybe I'll make some predictions regarding hockey playoffs, seeing it's that time of the year again. But then...maybe I'll tell you about my exciting weekend. I better not, this is a family newspaper.

WELL...MIGHT AS WELL GET INTO HOCKEY PREDICTIONS. Shall I start with the National Hockey League? Why not.

For now I'll take the easy way out and call only the quarter finals. Montreal Canadiens are playing the Toronto Maple Leafs. Normally, I'd say Montreal in four straight, but the Leafs come up better than they really are in playoff action, so I'll say the Canadiens in six.

The New York Islanders will do battle with the Chicago Black Hawks. This one is quite easy. The Islanders in four straight. What more can you say, as the Hawks are a terrible team and shouldn't be in the playoffs at all. The Islanders still are hurting from their elimination in last year's playoffs by the Toronto Maple Leafs, and they are determined to win the Stanley Cup this time around.

The Boston Bruins and the Pittsburgh Penguins are in the third set of series. Boston should win this one, but the Penguins are a fiery team and will give the Bruins a run for their money. Due to the Bruins above average talent, and experience, I'll have to say the Bruins in six games.

The final match-up involves the New York Rangers and the Philadelphia Flyers. This will be the most interesting of them all, as both teams have some good gunners and good puck blockers. I would imagine that all the bookies are calling this one to be pretty close, and I would have to agree. This should be the only quarter final series that will go the full seven games. I still can't make up my mind on this one...but the column is being written now, so I'll have to make a snap decision. Hhhmmmm. The Rangers will win, only because they have the two Swedes, Nilsson and Hedberg.

That concludes round one of "Marty's Hockey Predictions." When the final playoff set-up for the World Hockey Association is official, I'll let loose on that too. Next week might be too early for the semi's of the NHL. We'll have to see.

ST. ALBERT'S NEWEST SET OF RACQUET COURTS, St. Albert Racquet Club, opened officially on Saturday, and co-owner Ian MacDougall invited me down to try out a court with resident instructor Donna Harrison on Friday. Needless to say, I was impressed with the facility, and equally impressed with Donna's wicked serve (which caught me off-guard several times during our match). Donna will surely be an asset to the Club, as her game was real good. Anyone receiving instruction from her should improve tremendously.

It looks like I'm near the bottom of the page, so maybe I'll call it quits.

Eskimos look to "farm system"

By Marty O'Kell

Twenty-two year old St. Albert resident Jim Hole is excited about his prospects of going to the Edmonton Eskimo training camp at the end of May, and he thinks he has a good shot at making the team.

"Pretty good," Jim says about his chances. "If they weren't good, I wouldn't be going out."

Jim Hole has lived in St. Albert all his life. Actually, he lives down Bellerose Drive on the locally infamous Hole Farm, where he, his mother Lois and father Ted and the rest of the family, have been raising some of the best vegetables around.

Jim was drafted in February of 1978, and so was his brother Bill. They both played football at the University of Alberta, Jim as an offensive guard and Bill as defensive tackle or end. The Esk's took Jim, the B.C.

Lions took Bill (6'4 1/2", 250 pounds).

JIM HOLE

Jim, who weighs in at 240 pounds at 6'2", didn't go to Edmonton's camp last year because there were too many other things going on at the time in his life. Bill suffered some knee damage and an operation on it left him out of the running.

Jim Hole went to Paul Kane High in St. Albert during his teen years, but never got a chance to play football as the St. Albert High Schools didn't have football teams.

He went to the U of A to major in Agriculture in 1974, but didn't try out for the Golden Bears till his second year. He made the team as a defensive end, then switched to offensive tackle for the remaining three years of his college football career. (He still has one year of college eligibility left). Jim made the Western Collegiate All-star team the past two years, prompting the Eskimos to protect him.

According to Jim, the Eskimos are trying to build an all-Canadian offensive line, giving him a good chance at making a spot on the squad. Right now, the Eskimos are knee-deep in Canadians at offensive positions, as they have Bob Howes, Hector Pothier, Ted Milian, Eric Upton and Bill Stevenson on the front wall. If he does make the team, it will most likely be in a back-up position.

If he doesn't make the Green and Gold, he figures he'll be picked up by another team. One way or another, Jim plans on playing pro football this season. He says he'd report to any Canadian Football League Club, but wouldn't like to go to "a smaller place" like Saskatchewan. His eyes lit up when I asked him if he wouldn't mind going to Calgary to play with the Stampeders. "Sure, that would be a good place."

To me, Jim doesn't look like he weighs 240 pounds, he looks rather sleek, more like a well built halfback. Obviously, he is in great shape, because his frame carries a great deal of solid muscle.

Working on the farm for all these years has helped him tremendously. He claims that doing things like throwing sacks of potatoes around has built up his body quite a bit. His lack of football experience in high school wasn't much of a deterrence as he went in to the Golden Bear trials with a very strong and agile physique.

One thing that amazed me was his speed. Jim says he hasn't been timed in a couple of years, but on the 40 yard dash, which is the normal football speed test, he figures he can do it in about 4.9 seconds. That makes him one of the fastest linemen around. It's amazing that a man that big can move that weight around so fast.

One other thing that is on Jim's side - he has been injury-free all his life. That helps a great deal when he has to break into the offensive line that has helped win Grey Cups for the Eskimos.

Training camp starts on May 28, and Jim Hole will be ready. He's trained all winter with weights and a few weeks ago began doing long sprints.

There is a chance though that he won't make a CFL team this year. Then what? He's not sure what he'll do, but there is a remote chance he'll go back to the U of A.

And what about Billy? Jim is not too sure what Bill has in mind, but he may give it a shot next year with the B.C. Lions.

In the meantime, St. Albert football fans will be keeping an eye on the local product, keeping their fingers crossed and hoping Big Jim can crack into the big-time.

Schools give Games raffle good start

Local schools have given the Chamber of Commerce sponsored Games raffle a good start in ticket sales, with about 6,000 tickets of the 15,000 printed sold to date.

The prize for the raffle, which is to raise money to buy track and field equipment for the Alberta Summer Games in August, is a beautiful Electrohome Projection Television System valued at $3,300.

Tickets this week have been distributed to many St. Albert businesses for sale over the counter, says Raffle co-ordinator Paul Chalifoux. He added that the TV system will be on display at the Grandin Mall on April 21 and 28 with a group of ticket sellers. The system will also be on display at the Trade Fair, where the draw will be held on May 6. The Fair runs from May 4 to May 6 at the Perron Arena.

Chalifoux noted that if all tickets printed are sold, the raffle should provide about $10,000 for the Games equipment. He is optimistic that the tickets will be sold out by draw day. Tickets are one dollar each.

The schools are on an incentive program, as they will receive 10 cents on every ticket they sell for use on a school project.

Tennis Club holding Inter-Club try-outs

Ball rolling for soccer championships

An organizational meeting was held Monday night to initiate plans for the hosting of the 1979 Western Canadian Under 16 Soccer championships. The championships were recently awarded to the Hercules Sports Association of St. Albert, and are to be held the week after the Alberta Summer Games. Dates of the tournament are August 11, 12 and 13.

Jim Gray chaired the meeting of 11 people, and various organizational roles were quickly snapped up by the interested people present.

The championships will feature four teams, one from each western province. The boys involved must be 16 years of age and under, or in other words, midgets. If the competition lives up to its past performances, the tournament will be the premier youth soccer event in western Canada once again.

The players on the teams representing their respective provinces are at a stage in their soccer careers where they display some excellent skills and very quick speed.

Last year's winner of the Western Canada Under 16 Soccer Championships, Victoria, coached by St. Albertan Herman Kochan, are strong favorites to return to represent Alberta. The Victoria club last year had nine St. Albert boys out of 14 on the team, and Kochan told the Gazette, that while this year's team hasn't been completely picked, the majority of the squad will once again be St. Albert boys.

The Victoria team last year won the Edmonton City Championships, the Alberta

Championships, the Western Canada and the Canadian Championships. The team travelled to Regina to participate in the North American Under 16 Soccer Championships, but lost 3-0 to St. Louis Busch Gardens Soccer Club, the first time an American team has won the event.

The Western Championships should prove to be a fitting climax to the local sporting scene this summer, following what should be an excellent Summer Games event.

Anyone interested in distance running is welcome to come. There is a registration fee of $10 for the three day affair, which begins Friday night at 8:30 p.m. at the Inn on Whyte with a reception. The clinic begins Saturday morning at Scona, with times running from 9 a.m. till noon. The Sunday clinic will also run the same time. At 12:30 p.m. Sunday there will be a wind-up lunch at the Inn On Whyte. Saturday's clinic will focus on the fundamentals of distance running, while Sunday's will feature advance concepts. About 30 coaches will be on hand to give advice and instruction of good distance running.

Local boxers keeping gloves warm

Boxers from the St. Albert Boys Boxing Club were trying to keep in shape lately with bouts in High Prairie and Edmonton. Here is a list of the boys who were in the ring and the results of their fights.

Peter Richmond (125 lbs.) - lost a close bout on Saturday to top rated Alex Grandbois in High Prairie. Rematched with Grandbois at an International Card at the Convention Inn South in Edmonton, Peter won a unanimous decision, (all five judges had him the winner by a good margin) and completely dominated the bout. Considered one of the best Intermediate Open Boxers in Western Canada, Peter has now won 16 of his 21 bouts to date.

Martin Teuber (120 lbs.) - Knocked out Frankie Ferguson of Grouard in the first round. Undefeated in 15 bouts, Martin is probably the best "Junior C" boxer in Western Canada and is eligible to fight for the Canadian Championship later this year.

Grant Arneson (90 lbs.) - Won a unanimous decision over Carl Auger of Grouard. Also top ranked in his division, Grant has won nine of his 12 bouts and is eligible to fight for the Canadian Championship.

Sean Wharton (65 lbs.) - Lost a close decision to Clay Auger of Grouard who is nearly three years older. Sean, who is eight years old, is unbeatable in his own age class and hence must fight older boys in order to get bouts. Winner of five of his eight bouts, Sean is a certain future champion.

Darren Pennington (70 lbs.) - Lost a close decision to Pat Lalonde of High Prairie. This was Darren's first fight and he boxed very well against a strong opponent.

Dennis McGrath (130 lbs.) - Slated to fight Robert Campion, the bout was cancelled when manager Del Larsen found out that Campion was more than four years older than Dennis. A disappointment as Dennis was anxious to fight and is ready to win.

Canoe Alberta

From Chinook Country to the Lakeland, to the foothills and mountains of Alberta's Canadian Rockies, there's a wide choice of placid panoramas or whitewater madness to test your mettle or soothe your soul.

To help the canoeist, the fourth edition of Canoe Alberta maps and water-proof guides are now available.

The co-operative effort was researched by Alberta's recreation, parks and wildlife, and designed, printed and packaged by Travel Alberta, business development and tourism.

The seven unit package includes a map and six reference guides with detailed reach reports on paddling conditions on all of Alberta's river systems.

Only one river in the province has been omitted from the series--the Ghost River, since canoeists who have attempted it complained of "paddling gravel" for most of the trip.

The reference guides are intended as a guide on the river, as well as providing assistance in planning.

Several new reaches have been added, all have been expanded, and where information was available, comparisons made between conditions at various water levels.

The map is available free of charge, however it has been designed for use with the six reference booklets, available for $10 from the Queen's Printer, 11510 Kingsway Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta, T5G 0X5.

For your Canoe Alberta map, write: Travel Alberta, P.O. Box 2500, Edmonton, Alberta, T5J 2Z4.

Tuna champ wins Canadian Crown

The Garcia Canadian Angler of the Year (1978) is Michael MacDonald of East Lake, P.E.I. The 24 year old fisherman from the littlest province bagged the biggest bluefin tuna ever caught - anywhere!

The International Game Fish Association has recognized the 1,235-pound catch as the "All Tackle" world record.

MacDonald's 10 foot 9 inch prize came on the heels of an 1145-pounder he whipped earlier the same day!

Runners-up for the coveted honor are a west coast devotee and a pair of piscators from the prairies, including the first female nominee in the history of the award.

Wayne Stevenson of Kelowna, B.C. gets the nod for a gigantic 61 1/2-pound chinook he hooked off Quandra Island and boated almost three hours later.

Saskatoon angler Walter Hrychuk is lauded for landing a behemoth 16 pound 9 ounce Piprell Lake rainbow with gossamer 6 pound monofilament.

And Katherine Ribarik of Estevan, Saskatchewan is honored for her achievement in hauling a 34 1/2 pound leviathan lake trout from the depths of Hunter Bay.

The annual selection of the Garcia Canadian Angler of the Year is made by a nationwide panel of judges, each a foremost angling authority in his province or territory.

Clothes by the ton

Over seven tons of new and good used clothing were shipped to destitute people in Africa and Asia recently from the newly located USC clothing depot at 51 Besserer Street, Ottawa. The USC has over 34 collection depots across Canada and 15 export centres. A pamphlet giving addresses of these centres and a complete list of clothing in greatest demand, is available from USC headquarters, 56 Sparks Street, Ottawa.

N.H.L. playoffs underway

The quarter finals of the National Hockey League got underway Monday night with the favoured teams in all four games coming out on top.

Montreal Canadiens came from behind to defeat the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2. Boston Bruins easily beat the Pittsburgh Penguins 6-2 as was the score in the New York Islanders win over Chicago Black Hawks. The Philadelphia Flyers needed overtime to edge the New York Rangers 3-2.

All games were the first in a best of seven series with the second game in each series going tonight. The remaining games until a winner is declared will be played Friday, Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday.

Drillers chalk up second win

The Edmonton Drillers Soccer Club was in San Jose, California on Saturday doing battle with the Earthquakes, and came away with a 1-0 overtime win and their second victory in three starts in North American Soccer league play.

The Drillers John Anton was left all alone in front of the Quake goal and made no mistake 11 minutes into the overtime period.

Anton came off the bench in place of Jan Goosens in the second half. Goosens suffered a minor injury that left him somewhat sore. Coach Hans Kraay inserted Anton, who was drafted last year by San Jose, late in the game, and the move paid off. San Jose couldn't come back with a late offensive threat to tie up the game.

The win gave the Drillers seven points, six for the victory and one for the goal, giving them a total of 14 points in league standings.

The Drillers next game is at home at Commonwealth

Stadium against the California Surf, who play out of Anaheim. Game time is 2 p.m. on Sunday.

Traders behind eight ball

Fort Saskatchewan Traders will have their backs against the wall in the Western Canadian Centennial Cup playoffs when the series resumes tonight in the Fort. They trail the Prince Albert Raiders two games to none in the best of seven series.

The first two games were played in Prince Albert with the hometown Raiders coming out on top by scores of 5-1 Saturday and 5-2 Sunday.

The third game was played last night in the Fort but unfortunately the score was not available as the Gazette went to press.

Radio station C.K.S.T. from St. Albert, with play-by-play announcer Al Coates, will broadcast all the games. If you can not make it out to the Fort, just dial 1070 for all the action starting at 7:50 p.m.

Alberta family home purchase program

Tom Chambers, minister of Housing and Public Works, has announced that the government has implemented the new Alberta Family Home Purchase Program. Effective immediately the Alberta Home Mortgage Corporation administered program will provide mortgage financing and subsidies to assist low and middle income Alberta families with the purchase of their own home.

Both builders who wish to construct homes on a speculative basis and individual homeowners applicants are eligible for financing. Homeowner applicants may purchase an existing home, engage a builder to construct their home or if qualified, act as their own general contractor for the construction of their home.

Subsidies to families are based on income and can be a maximum of $219 per month. This subsidy translates to an effective mortgage interest rate of less than 4% percent. In order to be eligible for a subsidy, families must have resided in Alberta for two out of the last five years.

Both new and existing homes are eligible for financing under the Alberta Family Home Purchase Program. The total cost of an existing home cannot exceed $52,000 while the maximum price for a new home ranges from $52,000 to $62,000 depending on the lot price. Down payment required may be as low as five percent of the purchase price.

The maximum mortgage available under the program is $57,000 and the maximum size of home allowable is 1184 sq. ft. (110 m²) for a bungalow, bi-level or split level or 1507 sq. ft. (140 m²) for a two-storey. Families who qualify will have an adjusted income of $21,000 or less. In adjusting gross income up to a $4,000 deduction is granted for the wages of a working spouse and $300 will be permitted as a deduction for each dependent child.

In addition to possibly receiving regular subsidy first time homeowners who obtain financing for new modest homes under the Alberta Family Home Purchase Program, will be eligible for an additional monthly subsidy of $20. The "Starter Home Owner Subsidy" will run for a 30 month period. The purpose of this subsidy is to provide first time homeowners with funds for some of the extra expenses only experienced when purchasing a new home. These more modest starter homes have a maximum house size of 1076 sq. ft. (100 m²) for a two storey home.

With the implementation of the Alberta Family Home Purchase Program, two existing Alberta Home Mortgage Corporation Programs -- the Direct Lending Program and the Starter Home Ownership Program -- will be discontinued. The monthly subsidies, maximum mortgages amounts and house prices under the Alberta Family Home Purchase Program are higher than those provided under the previous two programs. In addition maximum income limits have been raised to provide for a more broadly based program. The new program will provide for effective interest rates ranging from less than 4% percent for low income families to 10% percent for higher income families.

Previously the maximum allowable price for an existing home under the Direct Lending Program was $44,000. The increase in this maximum to $52,000 under the Alberta Family Home Purchase Program will allow purchasers of existing townhouse condominiums and modestly priced duplex and single family homes to obtain financing and subsidies through Alberta Home Mortgage Corporation.

For example, a family with an annual income of $13,000 could purchase an existing home for $52,000 with a down payment of $2,600 and obtain a mortgage for $49,400. Assuming property taxes are appropriately $600 per year, the normal interest, principal and tax payment on this home would be $496 per month. However, this family is eligible for a monthly subsidy of $149, so they will only have to pay $347 per month for their home.
